China placed a "technical hold" on the joint proposal from India and US against Makki, who is a brother-in-law of 26/11 mastermind Hafiz Saeed. Youth killed, trains set on fire in Secunderabad as stir spreads

Fire and smoke billowing out of a Ajanta Express bogie after a mob attack against the Agnipath job scheme, at Secunderabad Railway Station on Friday | VINAY MADAPU

Widespread damage to public property as protests singe North

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE firestorm of protests against the Agnipath defence recruitment scheme continued for the third consecutive day on Friday, taking several north Indian states in its sweep and spreading further afield to West Bengal, forcing the cancellation of over 200 trains and impacting the operations of 316 other trains.

The situation in Bihar, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Jharkhand, West Bengal and Madhya Pradesh turned grim as protesters ran amok, damaging public property and torching trains at several places.

But the Centre appeared determined to push it through with IAF chief Air Marshal V R Chaudhari setting the timeline for its rollout in his force — from next Friday, June 24.

Coaches of seven trains have so far been set ablaze by protesters, officials said, adding that coaches of three other running trains in the ECR and one empty rake in Kulharia, in the same zone, were damaged.

Protesters' fury raged across at least 12 districts of Bihar where, besides setting two coaches of the Jammu Tawi Express on fire in Samastipur district, the enraged youth attacked a BJP office in Lakhisarai district. P5,9

AGNIPATH IS WITH GOOD INTENTIONS, SAYS CM BOMMAI

Bengaluru: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday defended the Central Government's Agnipath scheme, saying it was started with good intentions, and that four years of military training will open up a slew of opportunities for the country's youth. He said in New Delhi that there are some issues and the Centre will give clarity on the scheme. The relaxation of the age limit from 21 to 23 in the first year of recruitment shows the Centre's sensitivity to the needs of the people, he added. Senior Congress leader Veerappa Moily alleged that the Agnipath is an attempt to recruit RSS members into the forces. P4

PINTO DEEPAK @ Hyderabad

THE Secunderabad railway station resembled a battlefield on Friday after a mob, protesting against the Union government's Agnipath scheme, went berserk, torching a couple of trains and vandalising kiosks and cargo, forcing security personnel to open fire that killed one protester and left at least 12 others injured.

While Damera Rakesh (25) from Warangal district succumbed to bullet injuries, a number of personnel from the Railway Protection Force (RPF), Telangana Special Police Battalions and the Hyderabad Police were injured. Fortunately, all passengers were safe.

By the time additional forces from the RPF and all wings of the Telangana police were rushed in, major damage had already been done.

All platforms of the Secunderabad railway station were ransacked, with kiosks, furniture, a majority of the CCTV cameras and other equipment damaged. In all, eight trains were suffered damages.

It all began when the mob marched to the end of the platform towards Kazipet while damaging trains stationed there. They went berserk, pelting stones from the tracks on the trains. After repeated attempts to calm them down failed, the police opened fire to mqanage the situation. This led to further stone pelting on the trains and security personnel.

The protesters later squatted on the tracks, raising slogans demanding cancellation of the Agnipath scheme.

After consultations with the Army, the police invited 10 members from the crowd for talks with Army authorities, but the protesters refused to yield. Repeated attempts to convince them to come for talks failed, so the police and paramilitary teams as also the Rapid Action Force and RPF, surrounded the railway station from all sides and rounded up the protesters. They were whisked away and shifted to various police stations across the city.

Passengers already seated in the trains panicked on noticing the violence and ran for safety, leaving their luggage behind. Some claimed they were dragged out of the trains before the coaches were set on fire.

Now, CBI goes after Gehlot's brother

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Central Bureau of Investigation on Friday conducted raids at various locations linked to Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot's brother Agrasen Gehlot in connection with a fertiliser scam.

Responding sharply to the raids, the CM accused the BJP-led Central government of practicing vendetta politics. He sought to attribute it to his participation in protests in Delhi against Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's questioning by the Enforcement Directorate in connection with the National Herald case.

The CBI raids were carried out across 15 locations in Rajasthan, Gujarat, and West Bengal linked to Agrasen and 14 others. The agency said it is probing the diversion of Muriate of Potash (MoP) also known as potassium chloride meant for farmers. It alleged Agrasen and others colluded with officials of the Central Board of Excise and Customs and the Indian Potash Limited (IPL) to re-package the imported potassium chloride as feldspar (aluminium silicate) and export them, causing a loss of ₹52.8 crore to the exchequer.

One of the IPL's dealers is Anupam Krishi, which is run by Agrasen. Anupam Krishi purchased MoP from IPL, but instead of supplying it to farmers at subsidised rates, it sold the chemical to other dealers who re-sold it to a few export firms — Saraf Impex Pvt Ltd, Shivam Chemicals and Kailashpati Chemicals & Minerals and Industries.

To avoid being caught by Customs, the exporters repackaged MoP as feldspar powder which was sent abroad packaged in a high-density polythene bags.

7 malls default on property tax payment

Dues amount to ₹46.7cr; Revenue officials given tax target for this fiscal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has so far collected Rs 2,093 crore in property tax, though seven malls among 44 are yet to pay Rs 46.70 crore in taxes, said RL Deepak, Special Commissioner, BBMP (Revenue). In 2020-21, tax collected was ₹1,614 crore, while in 2021-22, it touched Rs 1,395 crore, he said.

Deepak told reporters that GT World Mall, Mantri Mall in Malleswaram, Rockline Mall, Royal Meenakshi Mall, Virginia Mall, Soul Space Arena and VR Mall are the defaulters. "We are enforcing collection of tax on the defaulters, but some are involved in litigation. We had managed to close Mantri Mall a couple of times, but they approached court to seek time," he said.

"Revenue officials were asked to work towards the property tax target for this fiscal. This time, we have given targets to teams to collect current/due tax by property owners and a performance audit will be conducted soon by the BBMP Chief Commissioner. There was a training session for 800 revenue officers on how to reach targets and handle situations," Deepak added.

Drone survey on defaulters

To improve property tax collection, the Palike hit on the idea of using drones for survey, with reports of owners deviating from the building plan and submitting false documents to escape the tax net. "The Palike will try to achieve the target set by the Revenue department and also verify the properties submitted by owners," said Deepak, adding that the drone survey may uncover false details submitted by owners.

Penalty for flexes, banners

The Commissioner also came down heavily on mushrooming flexes and banners in Bengaluru, despite High Court orders against such defacement. He said the Palike will take serious action against banners placed in public places, especially welcome banners to political leaders. He warned that those found wishing people via banners will have to pay a penalty. The issue was discussed as many city leaders have put up banners, in anticipation of PM Modi's visit.

Only government advertising is allowed in particular areas, he said. "At a few places, banners have come up only with permission from the Chief Commissioner."

'Aphrodisiac question poorly framed'

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

WITH the Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS) question paper containing the essay question, 'Woman as an aphrodisiac' going viral, there is puzzlement and concern over why the content was included in the syllabus in the first place.

A member of the National Commission for Indian System Of Medicine (NCISM), which is in charge of framing the syllabus, said the issue was due to a lack of nuance and contextual cues. RGUHS came under flak after the question paper went viral on Thursday, after a Twitter user posted a picture of the paper, which asked students to write an essay on 'Stree as a Vajikarana dravya'. 'Vajikarana' or 'Vrishya chikitsa' is among specialties of Ashtanga Ayurveda, which is concerned with aphrodisiacs. The paper was for 4th year Bachelors of Ayurvedic Medicine and Surgery students.

However, the university maintains that the paper is according to the syllabus set by the Central Council for Indian Medicine (CCIM), and which they cannot change.

With CCIM replaced by the NCISM in 2020, the new commission has been rolling out a new syllabus phase-wise, with first-year BAMS students studying the new syllabus. In the meantime, second, third and fourth year students are still following the old syllabus.

In context of the syllabus, NCISM Board member and President of Medical Assessment and Rating Board for Indian System of Medicine, Dr Raghurama Bhatta, said portion of the syllabus was soon to be removed from the new syllabus. While acknowledging it was a controversial subject, he told TNIE the issue had stemmed from the question being poorly phrased, as well as mistranslation in the textbook itself.

> ...The specific concept which has been badly translated from Sanskrit acknowledges the physiological effect of a woman on a man
> Dr Raghurama Bhatta, NCISM Board member

"It is a controversial point. It has been grossly misunderstood and the question has been framed wrongly, as there is no such thing as calling women aphrodisiacs in the syllabus. Women are always respected and treated as equals, however, the specific concept which has been badly translated from Sanskrit acknowledges the physiological effect of a woman on a man," he told TNIE.

KIA bags 'Best Regional Airport Award' in South Asia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) has bagged the title of 'Best Regional Airport in India and South Asia' during the prestigious 2022 Skytrax World Airport Awards event held on Thursday. The award is based on a survey of customers conducted globally.

An official release said, "From check-in to arrivals, transfers, shopping, security, immigration, to departures at the gates, the survey evaluates consumer experience across airport service and key performance factors."

The ceremony was held in Paris. Hari K Marar, MD & CEO of airport operator, Bangalore International Airport Ltd (BIAL), said, "It brings us enormous joy in accepting the award as the Best Regional Airport in India and South Asia...The awards that we receive year on year is an acknowledgment that we continue to get this right."

Lauding BIAL, Edward Plaisted, CEO of Skytrax said, "The last two years have been extremely difficult for airports worldwide, having to cope with the many restrictions of Covid-19 and the severe drop in travel demand. With air travel quickly returning to a more normal level, the challenge to deliver the highest standards is being met at Bangalore International Airport."

WHO'LL BELL THE CAT OVER CLEANING DOG POOP?

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

DESPITE efforts to enforce the 'scoop the poop' initiative in which the dog excreta must be cleaned from public parks by dog owners who must carry biodegradable bags, the direction has remained on paper.

Although some apartment owners have suggested that pourakarmikas be deployed to keep the parks clean as even stray dogs excrete there, the BBMP has dumped the suggestions.

Talking to TNIE, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said that the pourakarmikas are not here to clean the excreta of irresponsible dog owners and stressed that manual scavenging is a crime.

He said that stray dogs mark their territory but the pet owners must show some responsibility. "We would intensify information, education and communication among the city dwellers who take their dogs to public parks to get them relieved," Girinath said.

Welcoming his suggestions, Vidya Goggi, governing council member, Bengaluru apartment federation said that some apartments have provisioned additional poop bins, while in other places, dedicated space is marked for pet excretion, after which housekeeping staff clears the poop. "It was suggested that posters be put up in and around parks and other neighbourhoods to educate citizens. In fact, many ward committee, citizen groups on WhatsApp have used this network to spread the message. Now the department has to step up to create such communication and engage in educating the citizens. That leaves management of stray dogs' poops. For this, dog lovers who feed stray dogs can take this responsibility. This will lower the burden of pourakarmikas, and ensure parks are clean," said Goggi.

> Despite the direction in this regard, many pet owners come to Cubbon Park and leave without cleaning the poop left behind on the park premises. I have dogs at home, but if I get any time, I will clear the poop and put it in a bin or in remote areas. It is common sense — S Umesh, president, Cubbon Park Walkers Association

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

18th June : My key sign today is Sagittarius, one of a handful of signs which combine animal with human attributes. On the one hand, it is said to be very reasonable but, on the other, governed by its passions and instincts. Look around yourself today and you might see evidence of both.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20) You could soon be ready to make your move - at last. Your stars are adopting a position which is frankly more favourable than for some weeks, and the best thing you can do is to be young-at-heart, spontaneous and ready to take off at a moment's notice.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) The Sun and the Moon have both recently come to your aid, and you should be set up for a very positive future. Today's stars put the accent on domestic affairs, so family relationships should come first, and people you live with will be hogging the limelight.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) Short journeys beckon, so you may accept any invitations that take you away from home. Mind you, they are as likely to be for business as for pleasure. If you are waiting for someone to get in touch, wait no longer. Take the initiative, make the first move and never doubt yourself.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) You may feel the need to be a little more secretive than usual, yet without being deceptive or manipulative. Your romantic stars are at a height, and even the slightest change will find you feeling much more sensitive. Still, it's good to be in touch with your emotions.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) This is certain to be a time of emotional ups and downs, with an emphasis on the ups. However, only determined action will shift a log-jam to do with work, or resolve deep-rooted irritations at home. First of all, though, you need to work out what partners really want.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) Dream on. Your imagination should be at its peak, which means that there could be extra worries, but that you should also emphasise all the positive angles in your life at the moment. Concentrate on the ethical issues, and raise moral standards all round.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) Some sort of financial crisis is looming, so fancy footwork will be necessary if you want to avoid bad feeling and save yourself some of your hard-earned cash. If you're in the housing market, or otherwise contemplating large domestic purchases, follow a hunch.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) Watch out for emotional squalls and be aware of the extent to which you may be responsible for any ructions. This doesn't mean that you've done anything wrong, but there may be things which you have left undone which, in their turn, have left someone else high and dry.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) Your imagination may lead you a merry old dance, and feelings like resentment, jealousy, anger and the desire for revenge are lurking. However, first you should make a fair and reasonable assessment of the situation. Let the facts speak for themselves.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) Seldom have your stars looked more passionate - at least not for a month or so! Such feelings will of course have intense repercussions for your romantic affairs, but will also influence other areas of your life. Adopt a bold and colourful approach.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) You are much stronger than you think, and even apparently disastrous developments will turn out in your favour. You must pay special attention to partners who are swept away by feelings they can't understand - and don't tangle with authority, either!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20) You are likely to get very wound up about moral questions, but you're also liable to jump to conclusions and misunderstand what is really going on. Say your piece, but be a good listener. If partners know that you're giving them your attention, they'll respond in kind.

Listeners at high risk of catching Covid virus

IISc researchers find threat of infection low for people with moderate height

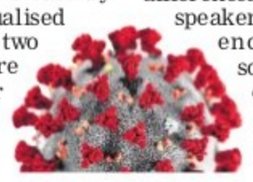
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN an interesting study, IISc researchers have found that the risk of getting infected with SARS-CoV-2 was higher when one person acted as a passive listener and didn't engage in a two-way conversation. They also showed that factors like height difference between the people talking and the quantity of aerosol released from their mouths also plays an important role in viral transmission. Interestingly, they found that the risk of infection was low with moderate height.

The team of researchers is from the Department of Aerospace Engineering, IISc, along with collaborators from the Nordic Institute for Theoretical Physics (NORDITA) in Stockholm and the International Centre for Theoretical Sciences (ICTS) in Bengaluru. Their study was published in the journal Flow.

They used new computer simulations on how speech droplets or aerosols move in the air space between interacting people.

According to a release by IISc, the team visualised scenarios in which two maskless people are standing two, four or six feet apart, and talking to each other for about a minute, and then estimated the rate and extent of spread of the speech aerosols from one to another. Their simulations showed that the risk of getting infected was higher when one person only listened and didn't participate in the conversation.



Sourabh Diwan, Assistant Professor in the Department of Aerospace Engineering, and one of the corresponding authors, explains that "very few studies have looked at aerosol transport by speech as a possible mode of asymptomatic transmission".

To analyse speech flow, he and his team modified a computer code they had originally developed to study the movement and behaviour of cumulus clouds – puffy cotton-like clouds that are usually seen on a sunny day. The code, called Megha-5, was written by S Ravichandran from NORDITA, the corresponding author on the paper. The analysis incorporated the possibility of viral entry through the eyes and mouth in determining the risk of infection.

Post this finding, the team plans to focus on simulating differences in the loudness of speakers' voices and presence of ventilation sources in their vicinity, to see what effect they can have on viral transmission.

Woman gets drugs for jailed son, held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A woman who allegedly tried to smuggle hashish oil for her son lodged at the Parappana Agrahara Central Prison has now become an inmate of the same jail. The woman, identified as Parveen Taj, was caught by the guards at the prison gate and was handed over to the Parappana Agrahara police. She is a resident of Shikaripalya.

Parveen allegedly tried to supply around 200 ml of hashish oil, worth around Rs 5 lakh, to her son Mohammed Bilal. Bilal was arrested by the Konanakunte police in 2020 and has since been in the jail.

In her statement, Parveen said she got a call from her son from a different phone number from the jail. She said her son asked her to bring his clothes and other belongings in a bag which were to be given to her by one of his friends.

On June 13, Parveen went to the jail and handed over the bag to the guards. When the guards opened the bag, they found the hashish oil in it following which she was immediately detained. The woman however pleaded innocence and claimed that she was not aware of what was inside the bag. Bilal's friend had concealed the drugs under a carbon sheet to dodge the scanner. However, the guards who opened the bag and thoroughly checked it found the substance inside it.

"We are checking the details of the phone number from which her son called her from the jail. We are also on the lookout for the friend who handed over the bag to her. Bilal is a drug addict and wanted to try his luck inside the jail by peddling drugs to other prisoners and was caught in the very first attempt," said an officer who is part of the investigation. The Parappana Agrahara police have registered a case and are further investigating.

HC to state govt: Act against use of loudspeakers at night

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the state government to conduct a drive and take action against use of loudspeakers or public address systems by religious institutions, pubs, bars and restaurants between 10pm and 6am, by misusing the licence granted to them.

A division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice Ashok S Kinagi passed the order after hearing two public interest litigations filed in 2020.

Before this, the state government filed a report stating that no permanent licence is issued for use of loudspeakers. Licences are issued under Rule 5(1) of the Noise Pollution (Regulation and Control) Rules, 2000, read with Section 37 of the Karnataka Police Act 1963.

The court noted that as per the stand of the respondents -- Chief Secretary, Additional Chief Secretary, Home Department, and Director General and Inspector General of Police -- it is very clear that loudspeakers, etc, are not permitted from 10pm and 6am, except under circumstances provided in the rules.

The court also noted that "we have been informed that loudspeakers are being used in religious institutions like mosques, temples, gurudwaras, churches, etc. Hence, authorities are required to take action against those using loudspeakers during night hours, 10pm to 6am. The respondents should carry out a drive to prevent misuse of licence."

The government advocate told the court that rules do not impose any restriction on use of loudspeakers between 6am and 10pm, except specifying the noise levels for different areas. The government informed the court that a circular was issued on May 10, 2022, for enforcement of rules. Licence for use of loudspeakers has been granted for two years, and has to be renewed.

CM MEETS SHEKHAWAT, DISCUSSES MEKEDATU

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's surprise trip to New Delhi on Friday sparked the buzz that the ruling BJP was close to firming up the outline of the much-anticipated cabinet expansion or reshuffle. Bommai was last in Delhi on May 20.

He called on Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, and later tweeted, "Had a courtesy meeting with the Finance Minister @nsitharaman Ji in Delhi. Various issues of mutual interest were discussed."

In another important meeting, Bommai met Union Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, apart from participating in the GST Council meeting. The meeting was in connection with the Mekedatu project and Tamil Nadu's objection to the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA).

Responding to a question by journalists, Bommai said Tamil Nadu has filed a miscellaneous application before the Supreme Court, and once notice is served to the state, the government will respond to it. "It (Mekedatu) is already on the (CWMA meeting) agenda, I will put pressure that it should be taken up and a final decision taken, regarding the project," he added.

The Tamil Nadu government last week moved the Supreme Court with an aim to seek direction to the CWMA, restraining it from holding any discussion on the project at its meeting. Bommai termed Tamil Nadu's move a "political stunt", and said it was against the "spirit of federalism".

Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin recently wrote a letter to the Prime Minister, requesting him to instruct the Jal Shakti ministry to advise the CWMA's chairman to desist from taking up any discussion on the Mekedatu project, till the issues are heard and decided by the Supreme Court.

The Tamil Nadu government has already moved the Supreme Court, seeking direction to the CWMA not to hold any discussion on the issue at its meeting.

Mekedatu is a drinking water and power project proposed by Karnataka, for which a balancing reservoir has to be constructed near Kanakapura in Ramanagara district. But Tamil Nadu has been opposing the project, apprehensive that the project will affect the state. The project, estimated to cost around Rs 9,000 crore, will ensure drinking water to Bengaluru and areas around, besides generation of 400MW power.

Project will be discussed at CWMA meet: Chairman

Thanjavur: Amid protest against the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) taking up the Mekedatu issue for discussion, S K Haldar, chairman of the Authority, reiterated that the issue is on the agenda and would be taken up for discussion in the forthcoming meeting. He was talking to reporters at Kallanai in Thanjavur on Friday, where he inspected the regulators. When asked whether the CWMA has powers to discuss the Mekedatu issue, Haldar said, "It has all powers and can discuss anything and everything related to the basin."

GoM on GST to meet again

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru/New Delhi

CHIEF Minister Basavraj Bommai, who heads the GST group of ministers (GoM) to look into the GST rate rationalization, will submit an interim report to the council on the list of goods out of the tax bracket that needs to be pruned, after another meeting later this month. The meeting on Friday could not come to a conclusion on the items to be exempted.

Bommai, who participated virtually from the Karnataka Bhavan, was assisted by officials from the state department.

He said ministers from seven states participated and an interim report will be presented to the GST Council at its next meeting to be held on June 27 and 28.

The GoM also decided to finalise the restructuring of GST slabs in the next meeting. Now, nearly 150 categories of goods from 86-87 services do not come under GST.

The group members shared their views on duty structure, GST rate to be corrected, items to be exempted, items to be merged with others and rationalisation of the present GST.

Cong has not done homework before stir: Experts

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

CONGRESS leaders have taken to streets and social media sites to protest against the Centre and to defend party senior leader Rahul Gandhi, who has been summoned by the Enforcement Directorates for questioning in the National Herald case.

Former social media head of Congress and former actor Ramya aka Divya Spandana took to Twitter to give a character certificate to Rahul, saying, "Worked Closely enough to confidently say Rahul Gandhi is not Corrupt. He is not greedy, grasping or acquisitive. The allegations and tactics are to discredit/disrepute him."

But political analysts pointed out that the Congress strategy of projecting their leader as "good" is not sufficient from the political point of view, though it may be enough to gain sympathy. Considering that Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh and Karnataka are going to the polls in the near future, this plan will not work in favour of the party.

Analyst BS Murthy said, "Would it not be better if Congress had rebutted ED charges point by point over the last 20 days, from the time the notice was served to Rahul? Would it not be better if they had given this rebuttal on social media, and then gone on the nationwide protest? It would have made sense if they had first informed people about the 'alleged injustice' meted out to their leader. Now, though party leaders are protesting, the public is not taking part in it as not many know the full facts of the case and charges against Rahul. Giving newspaper advertisements to explain their point of view would have also helped."

Prof Kiran Gajnur said, "Congress should have projected it as a protest against the misuse of power and vendetta politics. The party has missed an opportunity because they failed to do their homework and inform the people. That is the reason the participation of people is poor."

Some others said people taking to the social media to express their unhappiness over these protests is a sad reminder of the disconnect between the party and the public.

A popular columnist summed it up in her tweet, "The total absence of popular support for the protests by the Congress leaders over Rahul Gandhi's interrogation by the ED that have gone on for three days tells its own story."

Acute shortage of fertilisers hits Kodagu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Madikeri

AN acute shortage of fertilisers has affected agricultural activities across Kodagu, while the agriculture department has assured farmers that relief will come their way by the month-end. The onset of monsoon marks the beginning of agricultural activities in the district and other parts of the state. But in Kodagu, no work has started because of the shortage of fertilisers. The agriculture department has been alerted, as many primary agricultural societies and fertiliser distributors in the district have not been able to meet the demand.

Some experts opined that the shortage is because of the Russia-Ukraine war. "While fertilisers are processed in India, raw materials are imported. Shortage of fertilisers is a global phenomenon and a holistic approach is needed to study the situation. The coffee crop will not have any immediate problem, but the government should speed up the process and enable the import of raw materials to address the shortage," said Vishwanath KK, convener, Karnataka Growers Federation.

The fertiliser spraying work should have begun this month. While now is the right time to feed plants with fertilisers, stocks are not available

Santosh, a grower in Makkandur

Small coffee growers and farmers in the district are worried. "The fertiliser spraying work should have begun this month. We cannot use fertilisers once the rain gets heavier. While now is the right time to feed plants with fertilisers, stocks are not available," said Santosh, a grower in Makkandur.

Agriculture Department Joint Director Shabana M Sheik assured farmers that the issue would be resolved by the month-end. She said that since no rail rakes are available in the district, they have to depend on Hassan and Mysuru districts to get fertilisers. "By June-end, steps will be taken to supply 10,000 metric tonnes of fertilisers to the district," she confirmed.

KRRS ACTIVISTS PROTEST AGAINST KHUBA IN BIDAR

Bidar: The Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) and Hasiru Sene district units protested in Bidar on Friday demanding that Prime Minister Narendar Modi sack Union Minister of State for Chemicals and Fertilisers Bhagawant Khuba for disrespecting farmers. The protesters gathered at Ambedkar Circle and took out a rally to the deputy commissioner's office and submitted a memorandum. The protesters pointed to a recent conversation between Khuba and a farmer from Hedgapur village of Aurad Taluk. In the audio clip, Khuba ridiculed the farmer, who asked the minister about fertiliser shortage, KRRS members said. Khuba, while replying to the farmer, says, "I am a union minister. My job is to provide fertilisers to the state. Ask your MLA and officers". This smacks of arrogance by the minister, they said.

CM SPEAK

'Agnipath is with good intensions'

ENS @Bengaluru

AS protests against the Agnipath scheme have taken a violent turn in several states, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday said the scheme has been started with a good intention and four years of military training will open up several avenues for the youth.

Bommai told media persons in New Delhi that there are several issues and the Centre will give more clarity about the scheme.

He said the increase in the age limit for recruitment into defence forces under the scheme from 21 to 23 shows the Centre's sensitivity to the needs of the people. As recruitments to the armed forces were affected over the last two years due to the pandemic, the Prime Minister has relaxed the upper age limit for recruitment through the 'Agnipath' scheme in the first year of recruitment, he added. The CM said the state government has taken all measures to maintain law and order.

Meanwhile, senior Congress leader and former chief minister Veerappa Moily said the armed forces in India are the best in the world and the new recruitment policy will impact the discipline of the forces. Speaking to the media in Chikkaballapura, he alleged that it is an attempt to recruit RSS members into the forces.

Moily said youth across the country are waiting to join the forces, but there were no recruitments for the past two-three years and now the government has come up with a new policy to mislead them.

CPM district committee in Kannur has taken disciplinary action against six leaders, including strongman T I Madhusoodanan, MLA, in connection with the fund swindling under Payyannur area committee. Madhusoodanan has been relegated from the district secretariat to the district committee.

SECURITY at all railway stations in the Andhra Pradesh, particularly Visakhapatnam and Guntur, was beefed up following violent protests against Agnipath in Secunderabad railway station. While police forces were deployed at all the major stations, sources said intelligence inputs suggested possible attack on Visakhapatnam and Guntur railway stations. A vigil is also kept on social media posts, sources said.

Apart from the government railway police, local police and also Railway Protection Force (RPF) were deployed at railway stations to prevent any untoward incidents.

Senior police officials have been monitoring the situation since morning after the violent protesters caused extensive damage to properties in Secunderabad station. An alert has been sounded at major stations such as Ongole, Tirupati, Nellore, Tenali, Samalkot, Rajahmundry, Kakinada and others.

The Vijayawada city police and railway police have stepped up security at Vijayawada railway station and its premises on Friday. Vijayawada city police chief Kanthi Rana Tata inspected the security arrangements at the station along with GRP and RPF officials and asked them to ensure tight security at all entry points. Rana said they have deployed armed reserve forces, quick response forces and mobile parties to respond to emergency situations.

Protesters kept in touch on WhatsApp

ENS @Hyderabad

PRELIMINARY investigation has revealed that the huge crowd that converged on the Secunderabad railway station got to know of the protest through social media. A vast majority of the protesters had undergone coaching for Army recruitment in private coaching centres in Hyderabad and other parts of the State.

During the course of their coaching, they had been members of several WhatsApp groups where they shared information about recruitment and tips for preparation.

Once the Agnipath announcement was made, these WhatsApp groups suddenly became very active, discussing the announcement and how it damaged their prospects of a career in the Army. As they heard of protests in other parts of the country, members of these groups started planning a massive protest at Secunderabad, and crowd started converging from Thursday evening. On Friday morning, they entered the railway station as passengers and went on a rampage.

SHIVALINGAIAH'S monthly pay after 35 years of service in BDA is around ₹35,000. The assets found in his possession are hugely disproportionate to his known sources of income.

The ACB had been keeping a close watch on Shivalingaiah, who works at the Banashankari BDA office, for nearly four months before carrying out a raid on Friday morning. "We are yet to calculate the value of the sites and houses but his overall wealth could roughly be worth around ₹10 crore," a top official said.

Shivalingaiah, who joined BDA in 1988, works under Assistant Executive Engineer, Ravindan.

"His daughter is an engineer in the UK and is married to a British citizen while his son runs his own bar and restaurant in Bengaluru," the official added. His wife is a homemaker. BDA engineers of different grades, case workers and even brokers in contact with officials have been raided in the past. "This is a very rare case in which a gardener has been raided. PAWAR'S REFUSAL CAN MAKE PRESIDENTIAL POLL ONE-SIDED

There was much excitement at New Delhi's Constitution Club earlier this week. West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee had called a meeting of the opposition parties to discuss the possibility of fielding a joint opposition candidate in the Presidential election due next month. Seventeen parties attended. There was a consensus on the name of NCP chief Sharad Pawar. All leaders present at the meeting requested Pawar to take up the challenge. But the wily satrap knew the odds and politely declined the offer. The opposition leaders dispersed with a resolve to meet again next week to finalise their candidate. They requested Pawar to reconsider their offer.

Though Mamata basked in the glory of playing the pivotal role in mobilising the opposition, the mood of the other participants was not so upbeat. The absence of parties that have the potential to tilt the balance against the ruling NDA came as a dampener. These parties are the BJD headed by Odisha CM Naveen Patnaik and YSR Congress headed by Andhra CM Jagan Mohan Reddy. All the non-NDA parties, except the BJD and YSRCP, are likely to vote against the ruling NDA's candidate. This includes the AAP, which did not attend the opposition's meeting. But their vote is not enough to secure victory for their candidate.

The insistence on Pawar's name is solely because of his ability to win friends across the political spectrum and his bond with leaders around the country. Opposition leaders are cognisant of the fact that in order to mount a meaningful challenge, they need Pawar as their candidate. His refusal to contest would make the Presidential election one-sided. The BJP, leading the ruling alliance, has moved swiftly to buttress its support base. It has reached out to fence-sitters, including Naveen and Jagan. Between them, the two leaders control a big chunk of votes. All eyes are fixed on these two leaders and their moves are being watched carefully. Not many in the opposition camp feel that Naveen and Jagan would vote against the BJP candidate. The numbers, therefore, appear clearly in favour of the ruling alliance.

WAKE-UP CALL FOR AP'S EDU INSTITUTES

What could possibly make a student aged all of 15 think there is no option other than death? We have seen about 10 students commit suicide in the immediate aftermath of Class X results in Andhra Pradesh. This year, for the first time in two decades, the pass percentage slipped to 67.26%. In other words, over two lakh students failed the Secondary School Certification examination. The reasons are obvious.

No exams were conducted in the last two years due to the pandemic, and online classes meant that poor and lower middle class students, especially in government schools, were bereft of proper teaching. The fact that the pass percentage was well above 90 in the four years preceding Covid-19 shows the kind of impact it has had on education. Other states such as Assam, too, posted dismal results this time. The Andhra government is conducting the exam again for failed students—this is a relief but something needs to be done to not only improve standards in the post-Covid scenario but also ease pressure on the students. As per the National Crime Records Bureau Report, 469 students ended their lives in 2020 in Andhra compared to 383 the previous year. How long do we turn a blind eye to this silent epidemic? Yes, not all suicides are due to academic pressure, but the fact that the numbers are rising not only in schools but also in higher institutes of learning is a cause of serious concern. Earlier this year, two students committed suicide at IIIT-Nuzvid and we found that not one professional counsellor was available for 9,000 students at the prestigious institution.

Administrators, teachers and parents have an equal responsibility to check on the emotional well-being of children. It is time to make the stakeholders understand the importance of mental health and include it in the curriculum. Recognition of early signs of depression among children is necessary and the role of parents and teachers is crucial. Administrators should ensure active engagement between parents and teachers and use the services of professional counsellors. The Class X results must be a wake-up call. To begin with, the government could seek expert opinion to formulate a way forward on a priority basis.

Even by the Israeli standard of coalition fragility, the Bennett-Lapid government, which completed one year in office last week, appears to be counting its days in office. Against all odds, the unwieldy and politically contradictory coalition has survived so far and handled some of the pressing problems facing Israel. Disproving several political pundits, eight ideologically incompatible and contradictory parties joined hands and ended the 12-year reign of Benjamin Netanyahu, Israel's longest-serving prime minister. The centrist Yash Atid, which has 17 seats in the 120-member Knesset, agreed to play second fiddle and projected Naftali Bennett, whose right-wing Yamina has only six seats, for the post of prime minister. Under the rotation agreement, Bennett will swap his post with Yash Atid leader Yair Lapid in August 2023.

The past year has been tumultuous for the Bennett-Lapid government. Political stalemate following four elections between April 2019 and March 2021 and fears over a fifth election within two years galvanised leaders and parties to cobble up the narrowest coalition in Israeli history. Though the coalition had a majority, in the final vote to confirm the government, only 60 voted in favour and 59 against, with one abstention.

Since then, the government has been under severe pressure, both from the opposition and within. Yamina, committed to settlement expansion and partial annexation of the West Bank, had to compete with its ideologically compatible Likud in the opposition and with Meretz, a champion of Palestinian statehood. As the first religious prime minister in Israel's history, Bennett had to manage the secular Yisrael Beitenu led by Avigdor Lieberman, committed to reducing the power of the religious parties over social issues. The four-member Islamist Ra'am broke with others and became the first Arab party since 1948 to join the ruling coalition in Israel. However, this pathbreaking move did not go well with other Arab groups, which sought to delegitimise Ra'am's standing among the Arabs, who comprise nearly a fifth of Israel's population. In short, smaller parties in the coalition face strong protests from their ideological cousins from within and across the aisle.

Contrary to expectations, leaving office did not end Netanyahu's political career, nor did the Likud suffer from any leadership fatigue and implode. On the contrary, as the corruption trials are slugging along, Netanyahu continues to work towards toppling the government, which according to him, depends upon the support of parties supporting 'Islamist terror'.

During the past year, the Bennett-Lapid government did make progress. Besides survival, it passed the two-year national budget, elusive under Netanyahu. It initiated measures to decentralise and regulate Israel's rich kosher food market and fight societal crimes in the Arab sector. Despite provocations from Hamas and individual knife attacks before and during the holy month of Ramadan, the government avoided any major flare-ups with the Palestinians. Its Covid policies proved more effective than before. Notwithstanding periodic crises, especially during crucial Knesset votes, no coalition partner has bolted out. Moreover, one could notice a tone of reconciliation among erstwhile hardliners like Lieberman towards the religious and Arab populations.

> While international attention is focused on the impending visit of US President Joe Biden to the region in mid-July, especially to the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the West Bank, Israel is preoccupied with its internal crises

At the same time, some of the larger challenges fester. Even a year later, the coalition is narrow, and the Bennett-Lapid government has not won over smaller parties in the opposition. Due to the turf battle in the Arab sector, Joint List, which has six seats, is constantly needling Ra'am. Opinion polls, a perennial pastime in Israel, continue to paint a mixed picture. While the Netanyahu-led right-wing is a clear winner, a simple majority of 61 seats remains elusive. With 30 seats, Likud remains the largest party in the Knesset and Netanyahu's grip over the party and hence, the right-religious combine, is still strong.

The 61–59 fragility becomes a problem when maverick individual lawmakers seek to undermine stability due to their ideological commitments. A member of parliament voting against the party, ruling coalition and even government during a crucial Knesset vote is not unknown. At some time or another, most coalition partners faced internal dissent, threatening to bring down the government. Not all rebels could be persuaded to leave the Knesset, to be replaced by pro-stability members. The latest crisis concerns the application of Israeli laws to its citizens living in the West Bank for another five years. This controversial provision provides a legal umbrella for the settlers to be tried in Israeli civil courts rather than in the country's military courts used for the Palestinian residents.

Thus, while international attention is focused on the impending visit of US President Joe Biden to the region in mid-July, especially to the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the West Bank, Israel is preoccupied with its internal crises. There are increasing speculations of impending dissolution of the Knesset, facilitating fresh elections later this year. As per the coalition arrangement, Foreign Minister Yair Lapid would become the caretaker prime minister if the Bennett-Lapid government is voted out. So, when he arrives in Israel in a few weeks, who will receive President Biden? Naftali Bennett or Yair Lapid?

CHAR DHAM YATRA & INDIA'S OVERWORKED EQUINES

NANDITHA KRISHNA

Historian, environmentalist and writer based in Chennai

I have just returned from the Char Dham Yatra, which took me to Yamunotri, Gangotri, Badrinath, and several smaller caves and temples in a land known as Dev Bhoomi. Kedarnath had to be postponed due to the weather.

Yamunotri, 3,235 metres above sea level, is the most difficult of the four dhams since one has to climb the hill for about 7 km and walk back. The path is muddy, wet and slippery. Wind storms are frequent and it may rain at any moment, reaching temperatures of 0°C. In winter, all the dhams go below 0°C and are frozen. There are four ways of reaching Yamunotri. The young and hardy can climb the hill. Those who can afford it take a palki or doli, which costs between ₹8,000 and ₹10,000 each. It is carried by four young, strong Nepalese men who can even run up and down the hill. The third form of travelling is on a kandi. This involves a man carrying a huge basket strapped to his forehead. The yatri sits on the basket and the man climbs the hill with it on his back. Needless to say, it is cruel and subhuman. The fourth way of travelling is by mule, donkey or pony.

This is the most tragic, since the animals are underfed, overworked, sick and limping. They are beaten black and blue, whipped on their faces and kicked in the genitals to make them move fast. They have to go up and down the hill at least three or four times a day, although they are supposed to be limited to one trip. Coming down is very difficult as the ground is slippery and one false step can send them tumbling down the hill. I saw an obese woman sitting on a small mule. She fell down along with the animal. Her family members helped her up with care. Sadly, the pony was whipped to get up and carry her again, never mind that he was limping all the way up the hill.

The mules and ponies on the Char Dham are worked to death, drugged with narcotics to make them carry more load, and flogged with whips and heavy rods. The lucky ones die. The unlucky ones live to carry many more loads up and down till they drop dead out of sheer fatigue and starvation. Through corruption, the owners beat the rule that stipulates only one trip per equine. There are no resting or watering places, nor veterinary checks along the way. The animals slip, fall and hurt themselves when they go downhill due to the frequent rains and slippery terrain. I don't think the Prevention of Cruelty Act is either known or enforced in Uttarakhand. I saw a horse that could barely move; it would jump one step with its two forelegs, followed by the two hind legs. A huge man sat on its back. This year, around 100 animals died in the first three weeks of the yatra according to one news report, and 600 according to another. Actually, nobody knows, not even the government, as I discovered. There is no arrangement for cremating the carcasses of the animals, which are either dumped in the Mandakini river or left to rot unseen, causing any number of health hazards.

According to the officials, there are 8,500 working horses and mules, but only 2,300 are registered—a serious mismatch. Local people claim there are nearly 20,000. Apart from overwork, injuries and acute abdominal issues, the horses and mules are forced to drink icy water from the streams, as there are no arrangements for drinking water. In the higher Himalayan regions, hot water is generally given to the horses, but not on the Char Dham route due to lack of facilities. To reach Kedarnath, the animals have to walk for 16 km. There is a daily footfall of about 5,000–6,000 horses/mules/donkeys every day, with no facilities for food or water, although there were once arrangements for hot water that are now closed.

> The mules and ponies on the Char Dham are worked to death, drugged with narcotics to make them carry more load, and flogged with whips and heavy rods. ... they are beaten black and blue, whipped on their faces and kicked in the genitals to make them move fast.... The lucky ones die

According to Brooke, Action for Working Horses and Donkeys, there are 50,000 equines in India that work in exploitative conditions: industries such as brick kilns, coal mines and tourism. Even the dhobi overloads his donkey till it falls flat one day. How often do we see tiny donkeys piled with heaps of firewood or bricks or pulling an overloaded cart? Very often, race horses, a pampered breed, are sold off for park and beach rides. After a healthy diet in the stable, they now sustain on limited fodder to survive.

Human history has been shaped by the working horse for thousands of years. Once domesticated, the hard-working mules and horses become an important part of industrial production in several industries, including tourism, agriculture, transportation and even construction—the tiny ponies and mules carry heavy loads of bricks and wood. The livelihoods of millions of people are still sustained by working horses all over the world.

In India, horses, donkeys and mules continue to be the engines that power the rural economy. They help the farmer, facilitate transportation and work long hours in difficult conditions. Many owners do not have access to or cannot afford proper veterinary care. This takes a terrible toll on the lives and welfare of the animals.

To return to the Char Dham, the Uttarakhand government is minting money on its pilgrimage sites. It should be ashamed of its inability to provide fodder and water and for allowing such cruel treatment. Why can it not pave the roads and provide wheelchairs? In Gangotri, there are wheelchairs for those who cannot walk. This is kind on the handlers too, unlike the kandis that are probably breaking backs. Based on a recent PIL, the Uttarakhand HC has issued a notice to the state government. However, there is already a PCA Act and if the government was serious, it would not have allowed matters to come to this level. India has sufficient laws, but their implementation is abysmal.

The Animal Welfare Board of India was shifted to Haryana from Chennai. We had hoped that issues of animal cruelty in north India would be taken up, but that is yet to happen. There was no veterinarian or Animal Welfare Officer to be seen anywhere on the way. Finally, a pilgrimage, which is a wonderful occasion to visit the land of the Gods, becomes an indictment on the poor condition of the overworked equines. When you look up, you see the beautiful and imposing Himalayas reaching the heavens. But when you look down, you see cruelty and tragedy.

Will bulldozers be used?

It would be interesting to see if the state governments of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh handle the protests due to Agnipath the way they addressed some earlier demonstrations. If damage to public property is the reasoning behind using bulldozers to target the houses of alleged rioters, one wonders if similar measures would be considered against people torching trains and buses.

Santosh S, email

Warning for Centre

The Indian government ought to have given more time before implementing the short-term scheme since Army recruitment has come to a halt over the last two years. After the protests, in a knee-jerk reaction, the government has announced an increase in the upper-age limit for Agnipath to 23 years. There is no point in blaming the opposition; the anger among jobless youth is a signal to the ruling party that it can't distract people with religion for long. The fire needs to be doused before it's too late.

N Nagarajan, Secunderabad

Violence unfortunate

The continuing violence in several states in north India over the Centre's Agnipath short-term recruitment scheme for the Armed Forces is unfortunate and unwarranted. If the youth are unwilling to join the scheme, why should there be such incidents of arson and vandalism and destruction of public property? The youth of the country should have viewed this chance as a rare opportunity to be part of the defence forces with attractive pay. One suspects a clear conspiracy behind this irrational behaviour.

K R Parvathy, Mysuru

Why burn buses, trains?

Why do people show their rage through burning trains and buses? Will the problem get solved? People have to be sensible and not destroy public property.

Gandla Harini, Medak

Med students' cry for help

This is with reference to the news Denied Chinese visa, Indian students suffer mental stress (June 17). It is unfortunate that Indian students are feeling depressed due to the inability to continue their medical courses in China, unlike students from Pakistan, Thailand and Sri Lanka, who have been allowed to do so. The Congress is embroiled with Rahul Gandhi's ED case. If it had taken up this issue, perhaps a spark of hope would have been ignited in people's hearts about the intentions of the party. The Centre should now speed up the dialogue with China to help these students.

K Jayanthi, Chennai

Credibility at stake

IndiGo should have included E P Jayarajan's name in their official report on the protest against the Kerala CM by Youth Congress workers. This shows their favouritism towards a powerful person. Now the credibility of this airline is at stake.

25% rise in mental disorders in 1st Covid yr

WHO's latest review says anxiety and depression rose globally; countries need to invest more in mental health

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

DEPRESSION and anxiety went up by more than 25 per cent globally in the first year of the Covid-19 pandemic, says WHO in the latest mental health report released on Friday.

In its largest review of global mental health since the turn of the century, the World Health Organization termed the Covid-19 pandemic as "one of the biggest global crises in generations that has had severe and far-reaching repercussions for health systems, economies and societies".

"Depression and anxiety went up by more than 25 per cent in the first year of the pandemic alone. Young people, women and people already suffering mental health issues were harder hit by the pandemic and the restrictions that followed," the report says.

The world health body has called upon all nations to destigmatise and invest more in mental health, stating that the pandemic had caused a "sharp rise in issues across the world".

The findings are an eye opener for all stakeholders with the world body emphasising that there is no health without mental health.

"Nearly a billion people or one in 8 people world-wide, were living with mental health problems in 2019. Those living in conflict zones were affected even more, with one in five suffering from mental health issues. These included 14 per cent of the world's adolescents. Suicide accounted for more than 1 in 100 deaths and 58 per cent of suicides occurred before age 50," the report says.

It further says childhood sexual abuse and bullying victimisation are major causes of depression. "Social and economic inequalities, public health emergencies, war, and the climate crisis are among the global, structural threats to mental health."

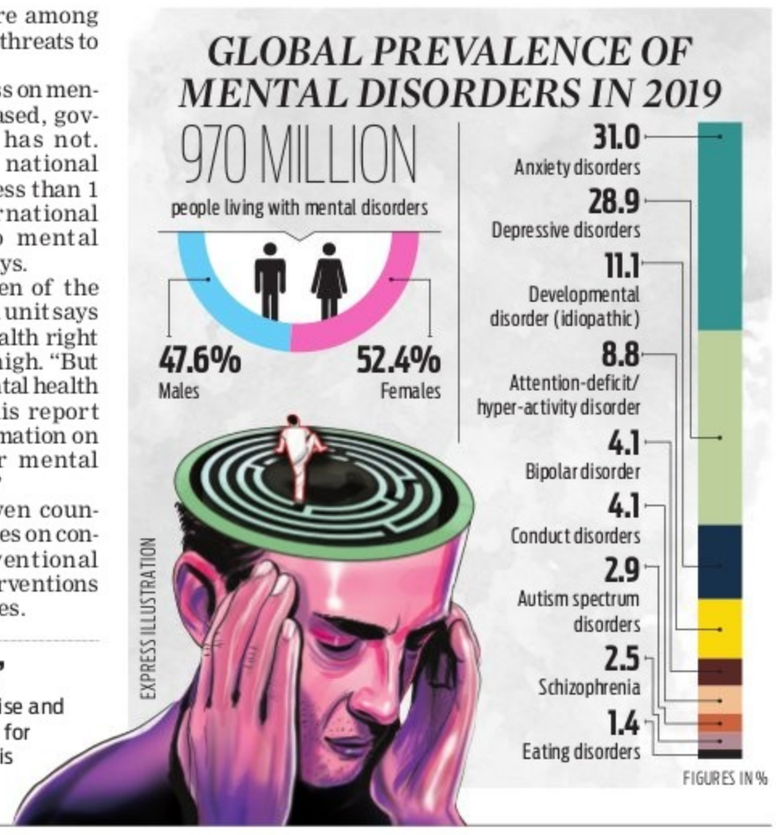
While the awareness on mental health has increased, government spending has not. "Only 2 per cent of national health budgets and less than 1 per cent of all international health aid goes to mental health," the report says.

Mark van Ommeren of the WHO's mental health unit says interest in mental health right now is at an all-time-high. "But the investment in mental health has not gone up. This report gives countries information on how to invest their mental health money better."

The report has given country-specific case studies on conventional/non-conventional and community interventions in mental health issues.

Emphasises 'no health without mental health'

The world health body has called on all nations to destigmatise and invest more in mental health. The findings are an eye opener for all stakeholders with the world body emphasising that there is no health without mental health.



VIRTUAL CONFERENCE

Amid bilateral tensions, PM to attend BRICS summit hosted by China

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi will attend the BRICS summit, hosted by China, virtually on June 23.

The 14th summit of BRICS nations — Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa — will be hosted by Chinese President Xi Jinping in Beijing on June 23 via video link, the Chinese foreign ministry announced on Friday.

The summit is unlikely to bring anything major on the table for India as there are many unresolved issues between India and China.

India's foremost issue with China has been the build-up by the latter around the LAC. Besides, China recently spoke against the Indian government following the remarks of the now-suspended BJP spokespersons against Prophet Mohammed. Another issue that India has been trying to resolve with China is the granting of visas to over 23,000 Indian students enrolled in Chinese universities.

The LAC bottleneck

The summit is unlikely to bring anything major on the table for India as there are many unresolved issues between India and China, especially the infrastructure and military build-up by the PLA along the Line of Actual Control

The theme of the summit is 'Foster High-quality BRICS partnership, usher in New Era for Global Development'. According to China's foreign ministry spokesperson Hua Chunying, the summit will discuss the 2030 agenda for sustainable development.

Former foreign secretary Shyam Saran said nothing substantive could be expected from the summit.

"The summit is being held virtually so the awkwardness of our PM meeting the Chinese president will be avoided. However, the optics of Modi meeting both Putin and Xi Jinping — both considered villains by the West — will be viewed negatively. I don't think anything substantive will be achieved in the current environment but India's persistence in maintaining its presence in a number of regional and international platforms underscores that India's range of interests today demands various interest-based coalitions rather than exclusive partnerships," he said.

Tri-services to get Agniveers by mid-2023, process to start in days

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

AMIDST the nationwide protest and violence against the Agnipath scheme, the armed forces have announced to initiate the process for inducting the first batches of Agniveers.

The Army will begin the recruitment exercise within two days, according to sources, while selection process for the Indian Air Force will start from June 24. The Navy, too, is likely to start the process within a week. The three Services are planning to deploy the first batches of Agniveer recruits in both operational and non-operational roles by June next year, senior military officials said.

Lending support to the government's firefighting efforts in the wake of the escalating protests, the three Services chiefs extolled the decision of raising the upper age limit for recruitments this year.

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, too, sought to stress upon the age limit relaxation.

Army Chief General Manoj Pande on Friday said the training of first Agniveers will begin in December and they will be able to join active service by mid-2023. After the initial notification is issued, various agencies and establishments of the Army will come out with details of the induction process, officials said.

Talking about the process to expand the recruitment base, the Army chief said the decision to raise the upper age limit to 23 years for 2022 would permit a larger section of youths to enrol under the new model of recruitment. The one-time waiver will provide an opportunity to those youths who could not join the services due Covid-19 in the last two years. "We call upon our youth to avail this opportunity for joining the Indian Army as Agniveers," Gen Pande said.

There were no recruitment drives by the Army in the past two years because of the pandemic. The Navy and Air Force, however, did recruit personnel in the previous two years.

Air Chief Marshal V R Chaudhari, too, harped on the decision to grant the one-time concession. "The upper age limit for the first induction has been increased to 23 years and this change would permit a larger section of the youth to enroll as Agniveers," he said.

Navy chief Admiral R Hari Kumar admitted that he had not anticipated protests like this. "We worked on the scheme for almost a year-and-a-half... It's the single biggest human resources management transformation in the Indian military... Protests are happening due to misinformation."

Gadkari bats for infrastructure innovation bank

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

UNION minister for road transport and highways Nitin Gadkari has proposed setting up an 'innovation bank' for new ideas, research findings and technologies to focus on quality in infrastructure development.

Virtually addressing the inaugural session of the 222nd mid-term council meeting of the Indian Roads Congress (IRC), the minister said new initiatives are expected from the IRC and innovation should be the focus area for all engineers.

Gadkari said IRC should develop a world-class state-of-art laboratory with the help of IITs and global institutions.

"Infrastructure development has an important role in fulfilling the vision of PM Modi to make India a 5 trillion-dollar economy and road infrastructure is directly linked to the prosperity of the region. Road infrastructure connects people, culture and society and brings prosperity through socio-economic development," Gadkari said.

The minister said in the last eight years the length of NHs has gone up by more than 50 per cent, from 91,000 km in 2014 to about 1.47 lakh km, and the government is working with dedication towards expanding the network to 2 lakh km by 2025.

There should be minimum carbon footprints and exploitation of limited natural resources during the construction and operation phase, added the minister. "Development at the cost of degradation of environment is not acceptable to us," he added.

U.S. IS THERE FOR INDIA: BIDEN ADMINISTRATION

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE US on Friday said it would stand for India and reiterated that New Delhi's relationship with Moscow developed over several decades when the US was not ready to partner with the Indian government. The statement comes amid the attempts of the Biden administration to discourage India from importing crude oil from sanctions-hit Russia.

"All throughout we have made clear to our Indian partners that we are there for them, we are ready and able and willing to partner with them, and we've done just that. Of course, we had a 2+2 dialogue with our Indian partners not too long ago. We will see Prime Minister Narendra Modi once again in the context of the I2-U2," said State Department spokesperson Ned Price at White House.

The US views India as a strategic partner against China in the Indo-Pacific and it is for the same reason that it has been discounting India's relationship with Russia.

Regarding human rights and freedom of religion, Price said: "The Indian people and the American people believe in the same values: Human dignity, equality of opportunity and the freedom of religion. These are fundamental tenets within any democracy and we speak up for them around the world."

ASI set to get 2,000 staff for multi-tasking

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

THE Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) is set to get 2,000 multitasking staff (MTS) being recruited through Staff Selection Commission (SSC). The MTS are mainly engaged for safeguarding of protected heritage sites.

An official privy to the development said the new recruitments would certainly help in bringing down the number of vacancies for the time being but added that more vacancies might arise soon because retrenchment rate is higher. He added that filling the MTS post is a struggle as employees in this category keep leaving the job for better opportunities.

"We are expecting 2,000 MTS who are in the role of ward and watch of monuments. MTS are largely young graduates. As and when they get better opportunities, they leave. Retrenchment rate in this cadre is higher. Because of this, the gap in vacancies widens," said another official.

BJP forms 'management team' for smooth sailing in President polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

EVEN as the BJP is yet to pick its candidate for the Presidential polls scheduled next month, the party has constituted a 14-member 'management team' for coordinating with all its state units and allies ahead of the crucial exercise.

Union Minister Gajendra Shekhawat has been appointed as convener of the panel.

According to BJP functionaries, the team will coordinate with all state units of the BJP and its allies for the Presidential election and is also expected to guide the party's elected representatives on the voting process.

BJP general secretaries Vinod Tawde and CT Ravi are the co-conveners of the team. Tarun Chugh, who is also a general secretary, is also part of the team, according to a notice issued by the party on Friday.

Union ministers G Kishan Reddy, Ashwini Vaishnaw, Sarbananda Sonowal, Arjun Meghwal and Bharati Pawar have been included in the management team as members. The other members are BJP's national vice-president D K Aruna, national secretary Rituraj Sinha, national president of women's wing Vanati Srinivasan, national spokesperson Sambit Patra and Assam unit vice-president Rajdeep Roy.

Earlier, the saffron party had authorised its president JP Nadda and Union minister Rajnath Singh to consult with other political parties, including those in the opposition, for building a consensus on a Presidential candidate.

Both Nadda and Singh have already reached out to several leaders including Sharad Pawar, Mamata Banerjee, Nitish Kumar, Naveen Patnaik, Farooq Abdullah and others.

With numbers on its side, the BJP-led NDA is confident of ensuring the victory of its candidate.

Targeted killings foreign conspiracy, won't allow forceful migration in Valley: Rajnath

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh on Friday said there is a strong possibility of holding Assembly elections in Jammu and Kashmir by the end of this year and asserted that the Centre won't allow any forceful migration in Kashmir in the wake of targeted killings by militants.

Addressing a function in Jammu to mark 200th year of coronation of Maharaja Gulab Singh, Rajnath said the delimitation exercise has been recently completed and it will change the form of J&K Assembly.

He said may be by the end of this year the electoral process in J&K may commence. "There is a strong possibility of it happening," he said.

On targeted killings by militants in Valley, Rajnath said, "Targeted killing is a foreign conspiracy. It is being carried out at the behest of our neighbouring country. We must foil designs of such forces and try to live a peaceful life". The defence minister, however, asserted that no forced migration would be allowed in J&K, which has already witnessed forced migration in the past.

"We will not allow any forced migration of any person belonging to any religion or community in J&K," he said.

Commenting on the recent communal clashes in Bhaderwah area of J&K, he said: "Some elements want to disturb the social fabric in J&K and promote radicalism. Attempts to spread hatred have recently increased and violence in Bhaderwah is against the culture of this place. Neither the state nor country can prosper if it creates hatred among people".

Appealing to the people of J&K to maintain communal harmony, Rajnath said, "Pakistan is sowing seeds of hatred in J&K. All of us must live in peace. We must defeat nefarious designs of all those who try to divide people".

Cong plays vendetta card over CBI raid on Gehlot kin

Party rallies behind Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot's brother

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE CBI raid on Ashok Gehlot's brother Agrasen Gehlot evoked sharp reactions from the Congress, which accused the Modi government of using Central agencies to harass its opponents even as the BJP dismissed the allegation.

"Harassment of Opposition leaders who stand up and speak truth to power has become the hallmark of the BJP government. I stand in solidarity with Ashok Gehlotji and his family against this politics of vendetta. Our fight will go on," Rahul Gandhi tweeted in support of the Rajasthan Chief Minister.

Congress general secretary and chief spokesperson Jairam Ramesh said the Centre will not be able to silence party leaders. "This is vendetta politics beyond all bounds. Ashok Gehlot was at the forefront of the protests in Delhi over the past three days, and this is Modi government's brazen response!" the former Union minister said in a tweet.

Gehlot's former deputy and rival in the party Sachin Pilot, too, came out in the CM's support and targeted the Centre saying the raid showed that agencies like Income Tax, CBI and ED were working as puppets of the Modi government. The government was deploying these agencies to harass Congress leaders while issues like inflation, unemployment, and hunger were being suppressed, he added.

"The unnecessary pressure of the Government of India, the political pressure that is on the Central agencies, is visible to all. The way the ED has decided to torture Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi in a malicious spirit... we all Congress people oppose it," Pilot said.

Accusing the government of acting with political vendetta, Rajasthan Congress president Govind Singh Dotasra said the Centre's action showed there was an undeclared 'emergency' in the country. "Modi government should stop misusing the central agencies. Otherwise, there will be so much anger in the whole country that our condition will be worse than in Pakistan," he warned.

Gehlot's Chhattisgarh counterparty Bhupesh Baghel, too, condemned he "misuse" of central agencies. "This is politics of revenge. Every probe agency should be allowed to work independently," he said.

BJP dismisses charge

State BJP spokesperson Ram Lal dismissed Congress charges as baseless. "When things don't work according to their wishes, they don't like it. All the agencies work independently. If you are honest, then why do you fear?" he said.

Harassment of Opposition leaders who speak truth to power has become the hallmark of BJP. I stand in solidarity with Ashok Gehlotji and his family against this politics of vendetta —Rahul Gandhi

PM Modi to launch projects worth ₹21,000 cr in Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi will launch projects worth ₹21,000 crore during his two-day visit to Gujarat. The PM reached the state on Friday night. Among the major projects to be inaugurated is the permanent campus of the Central University of Gujarat (CUG), which will be built at a cost of ₹743 crore at Kundela village, Vadodara. He will also lay the foundation stone for water developmental projects worth ₹660 crore on Saturday.

6th Schedule: Ladakh asks for statehood

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

A day after Home Minister Rajnath Singh assured former MP and Leh Apex Body (LAB) chairman Thupstan Chhewang of 6th Schedule-like status for Ladakh , LAB on Friday reiterated its demand for granting of statehood with 6th Schedule status.

LAB member Chering Dorje said they won't accept anything less than granting of statehood with 6th Schedule status for the union territory.

LAB comprises political, religious and social groups of Ladakh, except the BJP . "We are demanding 6th Schedule status and not 6th Schedule-like status to protect our land and job rights," Dorje said, adding that there was no breakthrough in the meeting between Home Minister Rajnath Singh and Chhewang in New Delhi.

"When Sikkim got statehood, its population was 2.50 lakh, while ours is over 3 lakh," Kargil Democratic Alliance co chairman Asgar Karbalai said. "Ladakh has 80,000 sq km area while Sikkim has about 7000 sq km area."

Fuel shortage in state, queues outside outlets

Fuel outlets across Gujarat are witnessing shortage of diesel and petrol over the past five to six days. Many outlets have run out of fuel due to short supply and as a result, long queues are being seen outside other fuel pumps. The situation was not different in the state capital where some outlets stopped sales by Wednesday evening. Dealers of PSU oil companies claimed they were getting 20 to 30% less supply. Civil Supplies Minister Naresh Patel said a few refineries are facing certain issues and hence, some outlets run by private oil firms are experiencing shortage. The pumps operated by the Indian Oil were not facing any problem, he added.

Ex-CM Vaghela wants to ally with Congress

Former Gujarat chief minister Shankersinh Vaghela is in talks for an alliance with the Congress. Vaghela, who had quit the grand old party ahead of the 2017 Rajya Sabha election, has already met several state leaders of the party to discuss the impending decision of his alliance with the Congress. However, Congress leaders are likely to make a decision only after discussing the matter with high command. Earlier, Vaghela had been in touch with senior Congress leader Bharatsinh Solanki and had reportedly stated his willingness to meet Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi. However, Solanki has now taken a break from politics.

Tickets: Clever BJP keeps seniors busy

Ahead of the Gujarat Assembly elections, the ruling BJP has fielded senior leaders as in-charges of seats in northern districts of the state. As many as 59 veterans have been entrusted with the task of winning these seats. Many of these leaders were hoping to get tickets and had been making preparations and PR works in this regard. However, the party has played it cleverly and made them in-charges of seats. This means these leaders may not get ticket in the next election battle. Some of these leaders are now disappointed despite the party giving them a big responsibility. The party is aiming to win the 59 seats in the northern districts.

MANN TO EXPAND CABINET, REVIEWS MINISTERS' WORK

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

CHIEF Minister Bhagwant Mann is likely to expanded his Cabinet in July, after the state budget session. Four or five ministers may take the oath of office in the council of ministers, while a sitting minister may be dropped. The performance of the ministers is being examined to decide on the reshuffle.

This will be the second Cabinet expansion for this government.

Sources said Mann discussed the issue with Delhi Chief Minister and Aam Aadmi Party's national convenor, Arvind Kejriwal, who was recently in Punjab. The Cabinet expansion will take place post the Lok Sabha bypolls in Sangrur on June 23, and after the state budget session ends on June 30. It could happen in early July, before the presidential polls.

As many as eight ministerial berths are lying vacant, including the one vacated by former health minister Dr Vijay Singla, who was arrested on corruption charges. There are currently nine ministers in the government, besides Mann, while the strength can be 18, including the chief minister.

Sources said the new ministers may be given portfolios currently held by Mann. The CM initially held charge of 27 departments, and later the health and family welfare, and medical education and research departments also went to him after Singla's removal.

It is likely that the health, parliamentary affairs, local government, agriculture, industry and investment promotion departments will be given to the newly-inducted ministers.

Among the new ministers to be appointed, one berth may go to a woman MLA, and another to a second-time legislator. The names of Sarabjit Kaur Manuke, Baljinder Kaur and Aman Arora are doing the rounds.

Mann may drop a minister belonging to the Majha region from the Cabinet, while the performance of a minister from Doaba is also under watch. Hectic lobbying has already begun among MLAs, ahead of the Cabinet expansion.

Singh is serving a 20-year jail term for raping two disciples at his Haryana ashram. SGPC president Harjinder Singh reacted, saying, "Despite the Centre's assurance, the Sikh political prisoners have not been released so far."

CCI orders probe into BookMyShow practices

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE Competition Commission of India has directed an officer of the rank of Director General of Police to investigate online ticket booking platform BookMyShow for anti-competitive practices, considering that its exclusive agreements with cinemas could hamper competition. The Competition Commission of India has directed the Director General of Police to investigate BookMyShow because of serious anti-competition clauses raised by many petitioners, who are mostly cinema theatre owners and others.

Competition Commission of India said the averments and allegations against Big Tree Entertainment Private Limited, the proprietor of BookMyShow, needs to be examined by an investigating agency if there was anything illegal or anti-competitive, as alleged by the petitioners. The order concerns case number 46 of 2021.

The CCI noted in this order that the DGP will conduct investigation without being swayed in any manner with the observations made. They noted that agreements made exclusively with individual theatres can hamper competition. The CCI noted that a large number of theatres has reached a contractual agreement with BookMyShow, which was restricting competition. The allegation is that BookMyShow was getting into agreements which were illegal and against the Competition Act which is in force for the past 20 years.

Congress forces keen fight in Maha Council polls

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

BUOYED by the "hard-earned victory" in the Rajya Sabha polls, the BJP faces a similar task in the polls for the state council due June 20, courtesy Congress wanting an extra seat.

BJP wants all its five candidates to win in the polls in which smaller parties and Independents can play a role. Eleven 11 candidates are in the fray for 10 seats. The BJP is the largest party with 105 MLAs and has support of 6 Independents. The MVA's Shiv Sena, NCP and Congress have 58, 54 and 44 MLAs, respectively, in the 288-member assembly. To win the polls, a candidate has to get at least 27 votes. BJP will win four seats. The Sena and NCP can bag two seats each while Congress can add one more seat. However, Congress has fielded two candidates.

The BJP needs to get over 16 votes to win five seats. Congress is short of 10 votes to win its second seat. BJP has asked its MLAs to assemble in Mumbai on June 18. NCP has also begun a similar drill. Congress sources said they are in talks with some "disgruntled BJP MLAs" who could tilt the scales.

BOMBAY

HC denies permission to NCP MLAs to cast votes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Friday refused to allow temporary release of Maharashtra's Minority Development Minister Nawab Malik and former state Home Minister Anil Deshmukh for the biennial elections of Maharashtra state legislative council scheduled on June 20. Justice NJ Jamadar passed the order on an interim application in Deshmukh's bail plea and a fresh petition filed by Malik seeking permission to cast his vote with police escort.

The NCP leaders are in judicial custody in separate money-laundering cases being investigated by the Enforcement Directorate. The ED resisted their applications citing the bar under the Section 62(5) of the Representation of People's Act that prohibits a person confined in prison from voting in an election.

Justice N J Jamadar had on Thursday heard arguments at length. Malik is presently in a hospital, albeit under Judicial custody.

Malik and Deshmukh were earlier denied permission to vote for the Rajya Sabha elections on June 10.

Jharkhand HC: Why is govt running away from hearing?

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Jharkhand High Court on Friday expressed its displeasure over the Interlocutory Application (IA) filed by the Jharkhand government with a plea to defer the hearing on PILs seeking probe against Chief Minister Hemant Soren.

The division bench of Chief Justice Dr Ravi Ranjan and Justice SN Prasad asked why the government is running away from the hearing, and wondered if the matter could be argued in the apex court, why it could not be heard in HC.

"Why is the state government adamant on making only a particular advocate appear on behalf of it, given the fact that it has a battery of advocates," the Court observed.

The Jharkhand government citied two reasons for seeking adjournment. They said that both their advocates — Supreme Court Advocate Kapil Sibal and Advocate General Rajeev Ranjan —have tested positive for Covid-19. Also, since the matter is pending in the SC, it should be deferred. The matter will now be heard on June 23 in virtual mode.

Women's body says sorry to Gorkhas for snub

GUWAHATI: The All India Women Conference (AIWC) tendered an unconditional apology to the Gorkhas after rejecting a performance of artistes from the community on the ground that 'Nepali' is a "non-Indian" language.

The apology was issued a day after the Bharatiya Gorkha Yuva Parisangh threatened to take legal steps against AIWC executive member Chandra Prabha Pandey for her remarks.

The Bharatiya Gorkha Parisangh (BGP) said the AIWC apologised in writing as well as through an audio.

"The AIWC said out of its more than one lakh members across the country, the remarks of one member do not reflect the views of the organisation," the BGP said. "AIWC president Shiela Kakde spoke about the valour of the Gorkhas and the beauty of their language."

Lanka schools, govt offices to shut down for two weeks

COLOMBO

SRI LANKAN authorities on Friday announced a two-week shutdown of government offices and schools, as public transport ground almost entirely to a halt due to a lack of dollars to pay for imported fuel. The Public Administration ministry ordered all departments, public institutions and local councils to maintain skeleton services from Monday in response to the acute shortage of petrol and diesel. "Due to scarce public transport as well as the inability to arrange private vehicles, it is decided to drastically curtail the number of employees reporting to work," the ministry's order said. Sri Lanka is facing its worst economic crisis since gaining independence in 1948.

The country is also facing record high inflation and lengthy power blackouts, all of which have contributed to months of protests -- sometimes violent — calling on President Gotabaya Rajapaksa to step down.

Union backs Ukraine's European dream, Russia cuts gas supplies

Ukraine could be added to the list of countries vying for EU membership

BRUSSELS

EUROPE sent a powerful symbol of solidarity with Ukraine on Friday, when Brussels backed Kyiv's bid for EU candidate status, even as Russia shelled frontline Ukrainian cities and cut back gas supplies to the West. With the European Commission's backing, Ukraine could now be added to the list of countries vying for EU membership as early as next week, when member state leaders meet at their Brussels summit.

All 27 EU leaders will have to agree to the candidacy, but the heads of the European Union's biggest members — France, Germany and Italy — already gave their full-throated support to the idea on Thursday, on a trip to a war-torn suburb of Kyiv. Then on Friday, the European Commission gave the executive's formal backing to the bid, and EU chief Ursula von der Leyen made her position clear by donning a striking jacket in Ukraine's national colours.

"We all know that Ukrainians are ready to die for the European perspective. We want them to live with us for the European dream," she said. Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelenskyy immediately welcomed the decision as a "first step on the EU membership path that'll certainly bring our victory closer".

He thanked von der Leyen for the commission's "historic decision" and said he expected that EU leaders would give Ukraine a "positive result" at the June 23 to 24 summit.

Once Ukraine joins the EU candidates' list — alongside several countries in the western Balkans — it could still take years to meet all the formal membership requirements, even if Kyiv prevails in the war.

"Yes, Ukraine should be welcomed as a candidate country — this is based on the understanding that good work has been done but important work also remains to be done," von der Leyen said.

And in the meantime, the fighting continues, with Russian forces bombarding Ukrainian pockets of resistance in frontline Severodonetsk, including civilians holed up in a chemical plant in the eastern Ukrainian city.

And Moscow turned up the pressure on the Western allies, sharply reducing flows of natural gas in its pipelines to Western Europe, driving up energy prices. AFP

RBI to regulate bigtech and fintech

It will also support global outreach to expand the footprint of domestic payment systems

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

WITH an aim to provide secure and affordable e-payments, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has come up with a document 'Payments Vision 2025'.

As part of its Vision 2025, the RBI will attempt regulation of bigtech and fintech in payments space, explore guidelines on payments that involve BNPL(buy now pay later) services, work towards introduction of CBDC (central bank digital currency) and seek inclusion of rupee in continuous linked settlement (CLS). CLS provides protection for cross-currency settlement in 18 currencies. Releasing the document on Friday, the RBI said CBDC has been gaining much traction with 86% of the central banks globally reviewing its feasibility for cross-border transactions as well as for internal benefits. "Various use cases shall be studied and explored to bring in further efficiencies in domestic and cross border payment processing and settlement using CBDC," the RBI said. It will also support global outreach initiatives to expand the footprint of domestic payment systems. Since bigtech and fintech companies are onboarding new users, the central bank is also attempting to regulate these companies in the payments space. Earlier, addressing at an event, RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das said bigtech companies that have entered into provision of financial services could potentially be another source of disruption to the financial system.

"The provision of financial services through digital channel, including lending via online platforms and mobile apps, have brought in issues relating to unfair practices, data privacy, documentation, transparency, conduct, breach of licensing conditions, etc," he said.

JAPAN

BOJ KEEPS ULTRA-LOW RATES, DOVISH POLICY GUIDANCE

The Bank of Japan maintained its massive stimulus on Friday and its guidance to keep borrowing costs at "present or lower" levels, signaling its resolve to focus on supporting the economy's recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic. The central bank also said it would offer to buy unlimited amounts of 10-year Japanese government bonds (JGB) at 0.25% every business day, repeating the guidance on market operations it made in April. As widely expected, the central bank kept unchanged its short-term interest rate target at -0.1% and a pledge to guide the 10-year government bond yield around 0%. The decision was made by a 8-1 vote. The BOJ sent out a message that while steady currency moves are important to hit its price target, it won't guide policy with a focus on yen moves. The yen tumbled as much as 1.7% and the benchmark 10-year Japanese government bond (JGB) yield fell after the BOJ's policy decision to remain a dovish outlier. The growing monetary policy divergence between Japan and the rest of the world has pushed the yen to 24-year lows, threatening to cool consumption by boosting already rising import costs. The government and the BOJ have escalated their warnings against sharp yen falls, including by issuing a joint statement last week signaling readiness to step into the currency market if necessary.

CHINA

LIKELY TO KEEP LENDING BENCHMARK RATES UNCHANGED

About 90 per cent of traders and analysts in a Reuters survey expected China to keep benchmark interest rates unchanged at its monthly fixing on Monday, as global central bank tightening limited room for policy manoeuvre to arrest economic slowdown. The loan prime rate (LPR), which banks normally charge their best clients, is set on the 20th of each month, when 18 designated commercial banks submit proposed rates to the People's Bank of China (PBOC). Lower interest rates would help revive a Chinese economy battered by anti-pandemic measures, but traders and analysts note that the PBOC this week left unchanged its medium-term policy rate, which is a guide to the LPR. This reaffirmed market views that policymakers were wary of reducing interest rates as other countries tightened, since doing so would put downward pressure on the exchange rate. The PBOC keeps the yuan under tight control. "China has long maintained an independent monetary policy, but at this stage it will focus more on balancing internal and external conditions, trying to avoid a direct collision in monetary policy stance" with the United States, said Wang Qing, chief macroeconomic researcher at Golden Credit Rating.

TAIWAN

CONTROLLING INFLATION NOT ONLY ABOUT RATE RISES

Controlling inflation is not only about interest rate rises and all government departments regularly discuss what other policies to take, Taiwan Economy Minister Wang Mei-hua said on Tuesday, with the pace of price increases at a near 10-year high. Taiwan's consumer price index was 3.39% higher in May than a year earlier. That inflation rate was the highest since August 2012 and exceeded the central bank's 2% target for the 10th consecutive month. Inflation is still slower than in the United States and Europe, however. "It's not only to be resolved by raising interest rates; we often have discussions across ministries" for other solutions, Wang told local radio. The government already has put policies in place to help, like cutting some tariffs on imports of raw materials and freezing domestic fuel prices, Wang said. "Compared to international control of inflation, Asian countries have taken more measures than Europe and the United States," she said. "The Taiwan government has taken even more." Taiwan's central bank holds its quarterly rate-setting meeting on Thursday.

Govt asks pvt fuel retailers to maintain enough stock

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AMID reports of fuel shortages at pumps, the government has expanded the scope of Universal Service Obligation (USO), which mandates licenced fuel retailers to maintain petrol and diesel sales at all petrol pumps, including in remote areas for specified working hours.

"Government expands the horizon of Universal Service Obligation by including all retail outlets including remote area," said the petroleum ministry in a press note.

There are also reports that suggest some petrol pumps operated by state-run fuel retailers are going out of stock in Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Karnataka and Gujarat due to sudden surge in demand. Private fuel retailers like Jio-BP and Nayara Energy raised prices at some locations or curtailed the sales.

Therefore, people are opting for state-run petrol pumps of Indian Oil Corporation (IOC), Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd (BPCL) and Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd (HPCL), which are selling petrol and diesel at lower rates (₹15-25 a litre lower than private pumps). "Yes I agree there is shortage of fuel at petrol pumps," said Rajiv Bansal from petrol pump association.

This order will ensure that private fuel retailers don't stop selling fuel, as the government has amended the USO regulations. Following the government's order, these companies will be obligated to extend the USO to all the retail consumers at all the retail outlets."

Titan share falls 30% in 3 months, analysts expects further drift

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA Group company and one of billionaire investor Rakesh Jhunjhunwala's favourite stocks -Titan - on Friday nosedived over 7% to hit a low of ₹1,911 and closed the Friday session 6% lower at 1,935.35.

In three months, the retail giant has crashed nearly 30% from its 52-week high of ₹2,767.55 on the BSE and in daily chart, it was trading below its 50-day, 100-day and 200-day simple moving average (SMA) placed at 2262.02, 2378.18 and 2360.81, respectively.

According to analysts, the large cap stock may crash more if it is unable to hold Rs 2050 level and may drift down towards Rs 1750/1510 over the short to medium term.

"On the daily chart, it has been correcting with the "lower top lower bottom" formation, indicating a prevailing bearishness. Besides, the stock is in death cross, indicating a medium-term weakness in the stock trend. A stock or an index is considered to be in death cross when 50DMA (daily moving average) falls below 200DMA," said Rupak De, Senior Technical Analyst at LKP Securities.

De added that the stock may remain in the bears' grip as long as it remains below the recent consolidation low of 2050. On the lower end, the price may drift down towards 1750/1510 over the short to medium term.

The fall in Titan comes amidst global selloff in equity market after US Fed Reserve hiked interest rate.

It also comes at a time when inflation is India is at multi-year high. Titan had last month reported a 7.21 % decline in its consolidated net profit at ₹527 crore in the fourth quarter ended March 2022.

SPICEJET STAFF STRUGGLE OVER UNDEPOSITED PF

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

BETWEEN March 2019 and September 2020, SpiceJet has not deposited money worth ₹32 crore in provident fund (PF) of employees.

Even as SpiceJet Chief Ajay Singh last year in an interview said all pay-related issues were resolved, the struggle continues for a section of former and existing employees whose PF has not been deposited for about a year or more now, even after deduction in this head from their salary every month. They say they have raised complaints with HR but those have gone unacknowledged or met with automated replies. Independent auditors in the embattled airline's annual report mentioned that undisputed statutory dues including PF, employees' state insurance, income-tax, sales-tax, service tax, duty of customs, duty of excise, value added tax, goods and services tax, cess and other material statutory dues, as applicable, have not been regularly deposited to the appropriate authorities and there have been significant delays in a large number of cases.

TNIE has seen the payslips and EPF (Employee Provident Fund) passbook of several former staff, some of whose PF has not been deposited since 2021, while it has been deducted every month till they resigned. Ankush Singh Dadwal, a former SpiceJet employee tells TNIE many former staff including himself have written to the HR but they have not been given any clarification or assurance in this regard. Dadwal, who resigned from the company early this year, has not even received salary payment for March, which was his last functioning month. His PF has not been deposited since June 2021. Some former employees have also written to the Delhi West EPFO office in a bid to get their PF money. Many have taken to Twitter as well. To TNIE's query on the issue, without giving a timeline, a SpiceJet spokesperson said, "There have been certain deferral on discharging of payments but no default. The company has been actively depositing and clearing dues and ensuring that accounts are up to date."

CIL to up output to 100MT by FY30 using eco-friendly tech

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-owned Coal India (CIL) is exploring ramping up its UG (underground) production by four-fold to 100 million tonnes (MTs) by FY2030 using a slew of eco-friendly technologies.

India's largest coal producer said it is taking a close look at green mining options in a bid to minimise adverse environmental conditions. "With land turning out to be a major pain point for expansion of mining operations, these technologies bypass land acquisition and avoid its degradation… The locked up coal assets left out earlier due to techno-commercial and safety concerns can now be unearthed through these technologies," said CIL in a statement. The company said UG output is environmentally clean, minimally invasive on land degradation, society friendly and nearly 70% of the country's coal reserves are conducive for UG mining. With this step, the aim of the miner is to make UG production significantly supplement the OC (Open Cast or Open-Cut) mines) output.

Huge bearish bets by FIIs raise hopes of relief rally

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

ONE indicator on FIIs has raised hopes of market participants of a bounce or a relief rally in the market, which has fallen for six straight sessions through June 17. FIIs have built up bearish bets on index futures – Nifty and Bank Nifty – to a 27-month high.

The quantum of bearish bets as of June 17 stood at 1.41 lakh contracts, the highest since 1.73 lakh contracts on March 6, 2020 preceding the pandemic-induced lockdown of March 24, 2020. Whenever FII positions are net short by 1 lakh contracts or more, the Nifty tends to bounce.

As the net contracts are above 1.4 lakh as of June 17, a relief rally through 15,600-159,00–odd is being anticipated by the likes of Rohit Srivastava, founder IndiaCharts, who cited four past occasions when the Nifty bounced after FII bearish bets on index futures exceeded 1 lakh contracts. For instance, on 29 th August 2019, the Nifty rallied from 10948 through 12352 on January 17, 2020. Similarly, on April 4, 2018 the Nifty rose from 10128 when FII position stood at 1.34 lakh net short contracts through 11738 on August 2018 as FIIs covered their short positions and built bullish bets.

The same episode recurred on October 26, 2018 when the net shorts were at 1.27 lakh contracts and the Nifty was at 10030. From there Nifty rose to 12088 on June 3, 2019 when the FII contracts stood at a positive 64103 On March 6, 2020 FII index futures negative bets stood at 1.73 lakh contracts and Nifty was at 10989.

Since then the index rose through 11647 on August 28, 2020, cited Srivastava.

Small businesses, retailers to take a hit due to repo rate hike

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

INCREASE in repo rate, which has a direct impact on lending rates, will adversely impact small businesses and retailers that are already in stress owing to the Covid-19 impact and soaring inflation.

Retailers with limited options are facing a challenging time as bank borrowings would mean extra costs and cutting down on borrowings will impact revival and growth, as per experts. Arijit Malakar, Equity Research Analyst at Ashika Stock Broking limited said the rise in repo rate has a direct impact on retail loans demand. "It is estimated that the rise in interest costs for retail households and MSMEs could lead to contraction in demand of as much as ₹45,000 crore. Every 1 basis point increase in the repo has an impact of around ₹305 crore on interest costs for retail & MSME consumers," he said adding, already-stressed MSMEs will find difficulty in servicing their existing & working capital loans and could refrain from borrowing fresh loan.

Jyoti Prakash Gadia, MD, Resurgent India, agrees that Increased interest costs along with additional transportation costs will force MSMEs towards losses or increased prices of their manufactured goods. This in turn will lead to a fall in demand, thereby impacting the nascent revival of MSMEs. "Searching for alternate sources of funding like PE or bonds is not easy and limited availability in this domain will not support the retailers." Praveen Khandelwal, secretary general, Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT) says, "Post Covid, small businesses are fighting for the survival of trade and trying to bring back the businesses on a minimum comfort level."

DK SETS UP BIG WIN FOR INDIA

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

WHERE will India be without Dinesh Karthik? Leave aside what unfolded at the Saurashtra Cricket Association stadium on Friday against South Africa. Four months down the line, they have a T20 World Cup lined up in Australia and given their top-order concerns, Karthik's maiden international T20 fifty — 15 years after his debut — was another proof of what he could give this side in the lower middle-order.

On a pitch where batters struggled to adjust to the two-paced nature, and shot making was difficult, Karthik was a class apart. Asked to bat first for the fourth time in a row this series, India were 56/3 at the end of their half-way mark with Hardik Pandya and Rishabh Pant finding it hard to get any sort of momentum. When the latter departed in the 13th over, bringing Karthik to the middle, India were 81/4.

Pandya, who had smoked Tabraiz Shamsi for successive sixes in the 12th over, — the first over since the fifth to witness two boundaries — was finally finding rhythm. But, it was still a pitch where momentum was not guaranteed. In that context, Karthik – the designated finisher in the team – had all but few balls to get used to the pitch and not only bail out India, but put up a total that could be defended.

If finding big hits against spinners was challenging, it was equally difficult against pacers, who were using the variations. On such pitches, you need the X-factor to get runs, especially ones who could play around with the field and bring 360 degrees into play. If India had Pandya for firepower, in the other end they had Karthik, who can be unpredictable with his shots by bringing 360 degrees into equation.

The 16th over delivered by Anrich Nortje broke the shackles. He walked down the pitch to convert a length ball into a full one and get a boundary over mid-off. He then used the depth of the crease to hit a fierce cut for a boundary off the third before Pandya rounded off the over with another boundary. Off Keshav Maharaj's next, Karthik converted a full ball into a full-toss by bringing out his sweep. That Pandya, who is known to be explosive in the slog overs, was largely kept quite, showed how it was not easy to hit big ones. And with 169/6 on board, the bowlers led by Avesh Khan (4-18) did their job to level the series 2-2 going into the final T20I in Bengaluru. Brief scores: India 169/6 in 20 ovs (Karthik 55, Pandya 46; Ngidi 2/22) bt South Africa 87 in 16.5 ovs (Avesh 4/18).

Saurabh seat not secure for World Championships

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

SHOOTER Saurabh Chaudhary has been a marvel over the years, pocketing many medals at various major competitions. But he's proven he's only human this year. After kick-starting the year with a gold medal in the ISSF World Cup in Cairo Egypt, Saurabh's form took a nosedive. In a sport where the country has talent in abundance and with a tough selection policy in place, that rare miss is one of the reasons he's not part of the national team, that will be heading to the upcoming World Cup in Changwon (Korea). More worryingly, given that this is the last World Cup of the year, there's a high chance that the youngster could miss out on the all-important ISSF World Championship in Cairo (October 12-25), which will have Paris Olympic quotas on offer.

As per the provisional ranking after Selection Trials 3 and 4, Saurabh is ranked 27th in the men's 10m air pistol event and is miles behind some of the top performers. Shiva Narwal, Naveen and Sagar Dangi, who are in the top-three, will be travelling to Korea on the basis of their rankings. The World Cup is set to be held from July 9 to 22 and the preparatory camp is expected to begin from June 20.

That also means they will have the opportunity to go further ahead of Saurabh and the rest of the shooters in the ranking list. Likewise, Palak, Rhythm Sangwan and Yuvika Tomar are part of the team in the women's 10m air pistol based on their rankings.

It's a harsh reality for Saurabh, the lone shooter to qualify for the final from the country at the Tokyo Olympics last year. The 2018 Asian Games winner had just missed out on a podium finish during the national shooting championships last year for which he had fetched 0.25 ranking points. After an average show during the first two trials in Bhopal, he finished on a disastrous note in the last two trials. It seems he might struggle to get into the team.

ABHIMANYU, SHAHBAZ KEEP BENGAL ALIVE

RANJI TROPHY

Skipper Abhimanyu Easwaran's unbeaten 52 after Shahbaz Ahmed's superb all-round show gave Bengal a glimmer of hope even as Madhya Pradesh firmly held the upper hand on the penultimate day of the Ranji Trophy semifinal in Alur, Karnataka on Friday. Bengal were 96/4 at stumps, needing another 254 runs to reach the winning target of 350. Madhya Pradesh, on the other hand, need six wickets in pursuit of their first Ranji final after 23 years. Kumar Kartikeya claimed 3/35. Brief scores: MP 341 & 281 in 114.2 ovs (A Shrivastava 82, R Patidar 79; S Ahmed 5/79, P Pramanik 4/65) vs Bengal 273 and 96/4 in 37 ovs (A Easwaran 52 n.o; K Kartikeya 3/35).

MUMBAI PILE ON RUNS AGAINST UP

A dominant Mumbai rode on impressive hundreds from Yashasvi Jaiswal and Armaan Jaffer to put Uttar Pradesh on the back foot by taking their overall lead past the 600-mark on the fourth day in Bengaluru on Friday. It was a run-feast on day four as the two batted with authority and it is almost certain now that the 41-time Ranji Trophy winners would sail into the summit clash. The Amol Mazumdar=coached side, in their second essay, was poised at 449 for four when stumps were drawn and had an overall lead of staggering 662 runs. Brief scores: Mumbai 393 & 449/4 in 140 ovs (Y Jaiswal 181, A Jaffer 127) vs UP 180.

Forget about results, it's all about systems

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

THE halo of that Olympic bronze in Tokyo has slightly faded. Results, even if most of them had come because of fielding largely experimental line-ups in a stacked year, were disappointing, in the eyes of many. It's important to place results in a proper context.

While they are the main currency to rank sides in most competitive sports, in hockey there is a tendency to not really worry about them outside of the Olympics and the World Cup. Because the dynamics in sport have always been different in India — the result is very much the king irrespective of the event — questions have been asked. Considering this, the men's team had a very good weekend of competitive hockey last week at Antwerp. They went toe to toe against a largely full-strength Belgium, world and Olympic champions, and emerged with their heads held high. The Graham Reid-managed team played two instant classics (they won one in a penalty shootout and lost the other 2-3).

ICC sets ball rolling for next set of rights

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

WITH the Indian Premier League (IPL) media rights out of the way, the International Cricket Council (ICC) has set the ball rolling for the next. The ICC will release its first invitation to tender (ITT) for the next cycle on Monday and it is exclusively for the Indian market.

While it is not clear when the ICC will release the ITT for other parts, according to various market analysts, the reason why it has decided to go exclusively for the Indian market first up is because the Board of Control for Cricket in India's (BCCI) media rights is also up for renewal soon. In fact, the ICC had plans to sell its media rights for the next cycle as far back in December but decided to wait till the IPL media rights were sold.

By this, the ICC believed there will not only be more takers but will also be able to sell its rights for a good market price. "With IPL rights sold, those who have missed out on it could go aggressively for this. If the ICC had released it before, then not many would be ready to splash the money. With BCCI media rights also around the corner, the ICC is looking to make the most out of it," an executive from one of the broadcasters expected to bid for the ICC rights said.

Although there won't be an e-auction like it happened for the IPL, the ICC has decided to sell the media rights for men and women separately. Although it is initially for a four-year period (2024-2027), bidders can also bid for eight years (2024-31). "There has been significant growth in interest in women's cricket over the last five years and we have made a long-term strategic commitment to accelerate that growth and unbundling the rights for our women's events will play a huge role in that. We are looking for a broadcast partner who is excited by the role they will play in growing the women's game and ensuring more fans than ever before can enjoy it," ICC Chief Executive Geoff Allardice said.

After losing out on the IPL digital rights, Disney Star is expected to go hard to retain the ICC media rights.

DAY'S DIARY

Fastest computer

On this day in 2012, Blue Gene/Q-class supercomputer Sequoia was crowned the world's fastest supercomputer

RESIDENCE AND RANK

It is installed at the US Department of Energy's Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory in California. It is fifty-five per cent faster than Japan's K, the world's second fastest supercomputer

USAGE

The entire supercomputer runs on Linux. The National Nuclear Security Administration uses this processing power to simulate the safety and reliability of the US nuclear stockpile

HEAVY DUTY

Like the giant redwood Sequoia from which it gets its name, the supercomputer is very heavy; 3,422 square feet and weighs as much as 30 adult elephants

If there's one trait that equestrian Fouaad Mirza would like to pick up from his father Dr Hasneyn Mirza, it's his generosity. The father-son duo open up about their equation and easy-going camaraderie ahead of Father's Day

A 'STABLE' RELATIONSHIP

Father-son duo Dr Hasneyn Mirza and Fouaad Mirza in 2018

MONIKA MONALISA

INDIA'S celebrated equestrian Fouaad Mirza, who is currently in Germany, might not be in the city to spend Father's Day with his dad Dr Hasneyn Mirza. But the bond they share is deeper than that. Like many, Fouaad too looks up to his father as his role model. But if he has to pick that one quality of his dad that he too would like, it has to be Hasneyn's generous nature.

"Dad is the most generous man that I have come across. That is something I would love to learn or love to have. He gives from his heart without expecting anything. He may not even know the person but when somebody asks for help, he goes all out," says Fouaad, against the background of horses galloping.

Hasneyn, a renowned veterinarian in the city, finds his relationship with his son to be more like that of a brother. "I learnt from both the boys. My elder son (Aly Asker Mirza) is also a vet and he is up-to-date with what's happening in the world. I have always valued their judgement and opinions on various matters," says Hasneyn.

An informal relationship since a young age has made them quite close. "I used to travel with them to every event they went for. I was not a strict parent to my son. I am sure there were times when I have had to put my foot down though," says Hasneyn, quickly adding that 'the boys' would be the right ones to say if he was a strict parent or not.

However, Fouaad feels otherwise. "We were brought up in a strict but loving way. Of course, when you are young, you don't like the idea of your parents being strict, but now I realise its importance," says Fouaad with a laugh.

Hasneyn's first advice to both his sons has been to enjoy what they do to the fullest. Like he says, "If you enjoy what you're doing, you are going to do well." But while bringing up two boys, he was very particular about letting both chart their course.

"I didn't point them in any direction because I wanted them to make their own decisions. Firstly, it's not fair to force them to do something, and secondly, if they made their choices, they wouldn't turn back and tell me that I decided for them. I am perfectly happy with the choices they have made," explains Hasneyn. For instance, Aly was quite clear about becoming a vet when he finished school. And when the time came and he had to decide his specialisation, he called his father for advice. But Hasneyn left it to Aly. "I was sure he was going to work with horses, but I didn't want to point him in that direction," says Hasneyn with a laugh.

A common family trait is their passion for work. And like Fouaad says, if you've got to be the best at something, you've got to be 'obsessed' with it. No prizes for guessing whom he picked that up from.

Protecting art, one piece at a time

Fading forms like Chittara, Manjusha and Cheryl will be on display as 35 artists from across the country showcase their works

ISHRATH MUBEEN

THE value of a piece of art is not measured on how the final product turns out but on the effort that goes into creating it. The International Indian Folk Art Gallery (IIFAG) is organising 'Endangered Folk Art of India', an exhibition at the Karnataka Chitrakala Parishath till June 19. It features artists and fading artworks from different regions of the country.

The gallery walls are adorned with artworks from Karnataka, Rajasthan, Bihar, Odisha, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu. Alongside, artists are also holding workshops.

Senthil Vel, an electrical and electronics engineer by profession and an artist by passion, started this initiative when the pandemic first hit. Several artists either have small stores back in their city or sell their works from home. "Some of these Indian folk arts and our beautiful heritage are on the verge of extinction," Vel says.

IIFAG hosted the first 'Endangered Folk Arts of India' event in Mumbai in February this year, followed by an event in Melbourne, Australia in May. Though there were initial hiccups in getting artists on board, Vel says, "After first-hand experience with the platform, many artists are now a part of our online and offline gallery."

The exhibition features more than 35 artists and 500 art pieces, including the world's longest Pattachitra painting. "The 35-feet long and three-feet tall painting depicts the life of Lord Krishna in 14 episodes in a temple design. It took five artists and 35 days to complete the Pattachitra on pure Tussar silk," says Odisha artist Sushant Maharana.

According to Maharashtrian artist Anita Dalavi, her 'Warli paintings' are created on canvas using cow dung. "The tradition of making these paintings started decades ago and was initially drawn only on homes which have an upcoming wedding. But with time, artists began to describe everyday activities and convey fictional stories through them," she says.

Vel calls these artworks 'endangered' because not many know about them. "Each piece of art requires to be taken care of. And in some way, we are responsible for keeping it alive," says the founder.

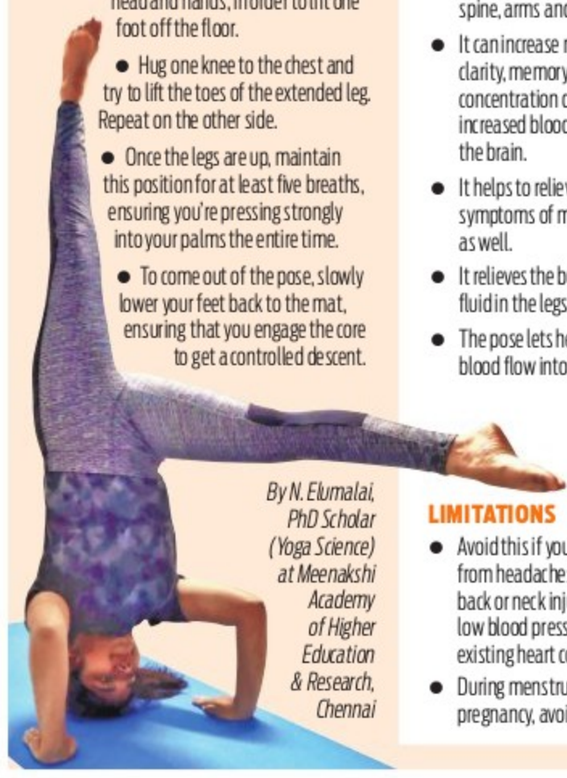
FIT BIT

SALAMBA SIRSASANA II
(TRIPOD HEADSTAND)

Like other headstands, Salamba Sirsasana II is an inversion that shows control, strength, and charm. This asana redirects sexual energies to a higher spiritual usage, increasing wellness, and promotes a positive aura. It helps to open the Ajna (Third Eye) chakra which allows energy flow to the third eye. This, in turn, governs psychic ability, intuition and spirituality.

STEPS

- Begin with all feet and hands on the floor.
- Place your head's crown on the mat between your hands. Think about a tripod, you want to create three points of contact; your head and two hands.
- Shift your body's weight from your feet to your arms and head, ensuring to keep your elbows at an angle of 90 degrees.
- Now, your palms should remain on the ground with your arms and head forming an equilateral triangle to act as an underpinning (tripod) base.
- Transfer your weight forward, toward the head and hands, in order to lift one foot off the floor.
- Hug one knee to the chest and try to lift the toes of the extended leg. Repeat on the other side.
- Once the legs are up, maintain this position for at least five breaths, ensuring you're pressing strongly into your palms the entire time.
- To come out of the pose, slowly lower your feet back to the mat, ensuring that you engage the core to get a controlled descent.



By N. Elumalai, PhD Scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

Ciao Gente

Everybody is in a great hurry to bring back the glory days. Doomsday pundits are predicting a double-digit inflation next year; but people are in post-Covid euphoria. I am confused whether I should jump onto the bandwagon or not. Even doctors are saying that Covid 'has gone' and somehow I don't understand that concept. Much to our horror and dismay, our pregnant daughter and her husband contracted the virus. It is next to impossible not to go back to work, and though all procedures like masking (sometimes double) were done, both of them were infected. Rather than having a savoir-faire attitude, if we just use our humaneness and responsibility we can go a long way in mutually protecting ourselves. I find the resistance to wearing masks, and maintaining some semblance of social distancing waning. The exchanges of bodily fluids aka; the sweat that one encounters when people hug and air kiss you is alarming! I try to politely make a point by asking errant mask wearers to pull up their (double) chin bands but there is almost a manic frenzy to get back to the 'old-ways' and that includes not wearing a mask, and urinating and defecating outside. Sigh! C'est la vie.

I did a manic round up with friends to distract myself. Usually when my 'game-face' is on, there is no stopping me. Whether it is scintillating conversation ranging from books, wine, food, and people and their idiosyncrasies, one would never believe that there is a storm raging within. That is why I always choose happiness consciously. It is tough but when practiced often enough it can be accessed quite easily.

I am getting a tad bit tired of this new level of 'political-correctness'. I understand some terms and some words sound (inadvertently) derogatory, but now there is a level of political snobbery which is manned by a charmed circle of elitists. Apparently I can't call you, my readers, 'my tribe' because it's politically incorrect. Well, there goes another greeting! Thank God, my friend Deepak Menezes (the suave Goan) who has just assumed charge of ITC Windsor Manor is as real as they come. We had a mirth filled dinner at Dakshin, over many gins (it was gin-day after all), and stellar South-Indian delicacies. It's wonderful when friends have a sense of humour that translates into hearty guffaws.

Jonas AX and Kerwin Nigli

I bumped into a gaggle of friends I hadn't seen in a while at Fox in the Field, the popular vintner Abhay Kewadkar's, new gastro-pub. The two levels of the pub were teeming with friends and the over-flowing bar and retro band that was playing just added to the right feel. It was a loud and raucous affair filled with good cheer and bonhomie. I believe another important event took place the same day but they were hardly any invitees as everyone was at Abhay's do!

I was becoming more daring as I stepped into the dimly lit environs of Mirage to hear Jonas AX, the lead-advocacy of Bacardi-India talk loving (while we sipped lovingly) about the three new artisanal rums that was meticulously aged in oak-barrels under the Caribbean sun. The excellently paired dinner and the ambrosia only added to the 'Rum-mersion' experience. Play and be merry, but be careful.

What we possess is temporary, what we become is permanent.

Rohit Padaki collaborates with KRG Studios for a gangster drama

THE FILM TITLED UTTARAKAANDA IS SET IN NORTH KARNATAKA, AND WILL GO ON FLOORS IN JANUARY 2023

CE FEATURES

KRG Studios, the makers of director Rohit Padaki's Ratnan Prapancha, are collaborating with the director once again for a film, titled Uttarakaanda. Jointly produced by Karthik Gowda and Yogi G Raj, Uttarakaanda is billed to be about gangsters from the lands of the North. The makers, who have announced the title and the director, plan to take the project on floors from January 2023.

Interestingly, Rohit Padaki's previous film too was shot in North Karnataka. Hoysala, the production house's second venture with Dhananjay, is also set in Belagavi.

While the Uttarakaanda team are yet to finalise on the lead cast, they have zeroed in on the technical crew. Accordingly, Charan Raj, Swamy, Deepu S Kumar, and Vishwas will handle the music, cinematography, editing, and artwork, respectively.

Akanksha Sharma and Vikram Ravichandran

IT'S A PROUD MOMENT FOR ME TO DIRECT RAVICHANDRAN'S SON VIKRAM

... says director Sahana Murthy, as he talks about Trivikrama ahead of the film's release on June 24

Sahana Murthy

CE FEATURES

TRIVIKRAMA is set to be the launch pad for actor Ravichandran's second son, Vikram, who will be making his debut as a full-fledged hero.

Calling this a "huge responsibility" Sahana Murthy says, "To me, launching the son of a star like Ravichandran is a proud moment. Having said that, Vikram did not bring that baggage onto the sets. He came with a clean slate, and has stayed honest and true to the subject." With a grand pre-release function planned on Sunday ahead of the film's release on June 24, Sahana Murthy says, "This pre-release function is going to be a starry affair, with the who's who of Sandalwood set to grace the event.

Sahana Murthy, who previously helmed Rose and Mass Leader, describes Trivikrama as a romantic drama with a blend of mass and class elements. "This is a story of a tough hero and an innocent girl. How these two contrasting characters fall in love, and how they get the approval of their families is the journey of Trivikrama," he explains.

Sahana Murthy points out at an interesting anecdote surrounding the biggest names of Sandalwood and Trivikrama. "Ravi sir just heard the one-liner of Trivikrama. The first full-fledged interaction Vikram and I had regarding Trivikrama was with Shivarajkumar and the late Puneeth Rajkumar. They both heard the story, and said, it was an apt subject to begin with. Ravi sir is waiting to watch the film starring his son on the first day first show in theatres," he says.

Talking about Vikram, Sahana Murthy says, "There are a few scenes in which people might feel the presence of Ravichandran himself. He is a good dancer and has a good grip on comedy and emotions."

The director says that apart from the glitz and glam of Crazy Star's films, he always liked the importance the heroines get in them. "It's something that I've even tried to implement in my film too. Akanksha Sharma, who plays the female lead, has a big role to play and is not just playing a run-of-the-mill character."

Trivikrama, produced by Somanna under the Gowri Entertainments banner, has Arjun Janya scoring the music, and Santhosh Rai Pathaje handling the cinematography.

Made in China: Delivery in the time of Corona!

A SHARADHAA

COVID-19 threw up a plethora of challenges for all industries, including the entertainment sector. This, however, proved to be a blessing in disguise for some directors to adopt an innovative kind of filmmaking. Among them was cinematographer-turned-director Preetham Thegginamane, who has directed the first virtually-made movie in Kannada. Titled Made in China, the film is mostly a conversation-driven family drama, and the narrative moves ahead through digital communication - either FaceTime or WhatsApp chat.

MADE IN CHINA
Cast: Nagabhushana, Priyanka Thimmesh, Ravi Bhat, Aruna Balraj and Ashwin Rao Pallaki
Director: Preetham Thegginamane
RATING 2.5/5

The story revolves around Abhiram Shastry (Nagabhushana), a techie, who is stuck in Wuhan, China, due to the pandemic outbreak. His wife, Mythili (Priyanka Thimmesh) is heavily pregnant, and Abhishek is trying his best to reach India and be with his wife. For the couple, digital communication becomes the only tool to bridge their long-distance relationship. How Abhiram tackles the situation to be with his wife during her delivery forms the crux of the story, which gives us a glimpse of an individual's traumatic experience during Covid times.

The Malayalam film CU Soon (2020) was an inspiration for Preetham to explore digital technology. However, his first-hand experience didn't come without challenges.

Preetham's take on human emotions during the pandemic is well-articulated, and his film deftly captures family emotions during the lockdown. One should applaud the director for his attempt, despite the execution being casual. It comes across as a film captured on mobile and projected on the silver screen. Adding depth to the character arcs and layers to the relationships would have made for better viewing. The kind of emotions Abhiram goes through is heart-wrenching. Otherwise, the rest of the conversation is mostly trivial.

The movie's release could have been timed earlier when such digital meetings were the norm. Now, with the impact of Corona already being exhaustively captured by media, this film doesn't really have the impact now. Nagabhushana usually keeps the audience in splits with his one-liners, but in this film, we see the emotional and serious side of the actor, and he does justice to the role. Other actors including Priyanka, Ashwin Rao Pallaki, Ravi Bhat and Aruna Balraj have delivered convincing performances.

Honestly, Made in China is not meant for the big screen, and the makers should have instead opted for an OTT release. Even if it meant exclusive for the mobile screen!

NIKAMMA
Cast: Abhimanyu Dassani, Shilpa Shetty, Shirley Setia, Abhimanyu Singh, Sachin Khedekar, Samir Soni
Director: Sabbir Khan

A lazy, cheesy film about a slacker

SHILAJIT MITRA

THERE is no better place for a science lesson than in a mainstream Hindi action film. At one point in Sabbir Khan's Nikamma, our hero, Adi (Abhimanyu Dassani), sits atop a leaking gas cylinder, facing a pack of villains. "When liquefied petroleum gas and fire come in contact," informs Adi knowledgeably, "it causes an explosion." The lesson continues. "The temperature will cross 100°C... you'll get third-degree burns..." The villains, thus enlightened, leave Adi alone, proving how at least some good sense can prevail in a film written, directed and co-produced by Sabbir Khan.

Nikamma isn't a remake because Middle Class Abbayi (Telugu, from 2017) was a popular hit. No. It's a remake because no one—least of all Sabbir, creator of the Tiger Shroff films Heropanti, Baaghi and Munna Michael—cares for original plotlines anymore. The story is so thin it would've disappointed as a Tusshar Kapoor or Aftab Shivdasani launch vehicle back in the day. Adi moves in with his sister-in-law, RTO officer Avni (Shilpa Shetty), in an UP town. There, a local don (Abhimanyu Singh) threatens to kill Avni after she interrupts his rental car business. It falls on Adi—loafing, unemployed, yet one of the most hectic slackers you'll ever watch in a film—to protect her.

RATING 1/5

Even bad action movies attempt to put up a show. Nikamma, shot in the same house-road-RTO-office loop, is the opposite of that. Sabbir's action design—a barrage of flying kicks in insipid slo-mo—feels outdated.

Worse, though, are the spurts of sentimentality the director injects to hold up his disjointed narrative. Adi, facing his enemy, illuminates how middle class folk tackle 'small problems' like inflation and overcrowding.

The endeavour (it seems) is to set up a rich-vs-poor narrative. However, as delivered by a star kid, the line rings of condescension.

That star kid has a baby-faced amiability that occasionally marks him out (Mard Ko Dard Nahi Hota, Abhimanyu's debut film, and a wholly accomplished one at that, exploited this well). Shilpa was one of our major actors once; here, straining for a comeback, she emphasizes arched eyebrows and stoically pursed lips. Shirley Setia barely registers as Adi's love interest (it doesn't matter; she looks happy while at it). And my heart goes out to Abhimanyu Singh, who deserved a Lifetime Achievement Award by now as Bollywood's crummiest of steadfast villains. More than once, he puts a gun to his own head, but decides against it, as though resolving to hammer away at this gig for a few more years.

It's amazing how thoroughly convinced Nikamma appears of its entertainment value, despite lacking all of it. Dassani said in an interview that it was Salman Khan who wanted him to do a commercial action film. The action is desolate, and we'll talk commerce in a few days. "Will this emotional drama continue or is there a party too?" a character asks in Nikamma. The short answer is no.

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

SHE doesn't know what it wants to be. In the first season, it began as a story of a docile woman constable, who treads the path of discovering her sexuality when she is roped in to honeytrap a drug lord while masquerading as a prostitute. Those were simple days. The constable, Bhumika Pardeshi (Aaditi Pohankar), had fewer battles but more opportunities to exhibit valour. She was understanding her own body, trying to be a dutiful daughter, controlling the boiling jealousy against her 'prettier' sister and learning the ropes of seduction. Then she decided to fall in love with the drug lord and become a double agent, and another show bit the dust.

The second season of the Netflix series offers no redemption from the sloppiness of the first. In fact, it jettisons the seemingly promising parts. Bhumi's family dynamics are forgotten, professional hazards become convenient, character arcs are abandoned. The drug operation w was sent to infiltrate seems like it was created after reading the synopsis of Narcos on Wikipedia. Nobody knows what drugs they are supplying. Cocaine? Heroin? From constable to prostitute to undercover cop, Bhumi is now balancing her time between being a drug kingpin and a murdering psychopath. She is also the Bonnie to the mystical drug kingpin Nayak (Is he a person? Or a syndicate? Or just the first draft of a character outline?). He shows her execution videos, tells her 'real power' lies in killing a loved one and in his spare time, runs a drug operation by dropping dialogue boxes from one computer screen to another. Moreover, the operation's text application on the 'darknet' is called Darkchatorr. As the series progresses, the suspension of disbelief feels more like the abandonment of reason.

The series is created and written by Imtiaz Ali, whose female characters have been criticised to just exist as catalysts for his male leads (Exception: Highway). This time, his notion of a solution is to surround the female lead with one-dimensional men. Vishwas Kini, as Bhumi's operating officer Jason Fernandez, gets no wins. He guesses Bhumi is backstabbing him but there are no repercussions (even Bhumi shifting her allegiance frequently is a weak attempt at portraying a flawed personality). Kishore Kumar G as the illustrious Nayak showed promise but is no match to Vijay Varma's chaotic Sasya from the first season.

Noir is not just the flickering neon signs, the damp streets or the rising shadow of a fedora-wearing man on a wall. It's a mood. The looming consistency of any mood is what makes a genre. Any depiction of art which flows in all directions, ultimately goes down the drain. SHE 2 has made its choice.
